EDITORIAL 6

Feast your eyes on Julian's latest ejaculations, along with some more side-splitting adventures from Quiffy Doo and plenty of nice pictures of once fine automobiles that have met with a horrific, but yet hilarious end...

NEWS 10

Last month may have been a complete no-news debacle that we only just managed to spawn our way out of, but we've more than made up for it this month with plenty of exciting stuff - Sonic on Master System, Xenon II, Predator... turn to the page and see.

MEAN YOB 24

He's mad, he's bad, and he's glad to make you sad! Yes indeed! It's the MEAN YOB, dispensing yet more words of wisdom with a few choice put-downs thrown into the bargain. And to fill up the space, he's daubed the pages with some more of your artistic efforts! Good eh?

Q+A 30

You ask the questions, and Julian gives the answers. And just to make it a bit more entertaining, we put in some letters from complete imbeciles, so we can have a good laugh. This month Julian's special answering trousers aren't tested to the limits, as you, the readers, put him "on the hot spot", as it were.

TIPS 36

Take a thrilling trip to the Tips Zone and indulge yourself with some cheat-related malarkey. This month we've got some tips that are so bowel-shiftingly exciting, we recommend you remain seated on the toilet whilst reading!

MARIO HISTORY 52

THE HOTLINES

60

Fancy getting your greasy hands on some neat, topper, fabbo console gear? Or do you fancy being lumbered with the same knackered Master System you've had the pleasure to own for the last three years? Pick up that there receiver and dial away and all your dreams could come true... if you're lucky.

CHARTS

62

If your idea of excitement is looking at lists of games, then these are the explosive pages for you. This month, we list the forty-five top-selling games on all formats, along with a few screenshots and artwork we've dug out of the archives just to make it look a bit nicer.

MEGAMART

Coo-eee! It's Megamart time again, the veritable rummage sale of the console industry! Will you track down that elusive bargain, or will you be laughing at the extortionately high asking prices? Who knows, or indeed cares?

PREVIEWS

106

Check out the new-look previews! Oh yes, we weren't really happy at all with the new-look last month, so we've re-designed those previews yet again, because we're that 'ard. This month, we've got some many hot games crammed in, we recommend use of special asbestos gloves whilst reading!

YOB'S GOSSIP

111

The YOB takes a second class seat on the last train to Cheap Joke Central and comes up with some more low-down, cheap personal jibes. What a star!

NEXT MONTH 113

Once again, we don't have any idea at all what we'll be doing next month, so instead we'll give you the lowdown on a completely mega free gift that some senior citizen'll be plastering onto the front of next month's MEAN MACHINES.

HAPPENING AGAIN

C (C) MEAN MACHINES 1991

After three long months, I'm writing this once again in a different way, all for personal enjoyment and gratification. If you are found copying, reproducing or rigging of this fab mag in any way, we'll sue your ass until you piles pop. And then we'll break your balls until they're sore, cos that's what we do things in EMAP.

COMPETITION RULES

EMAP employees and their immediate family and friends aren't allowed to enter any of our comps because that's the sort of crazy edict we like to issue over this crazy, crazy department they call EMAP Images. And just to stick the jackboot in just a little bit further, Dwayne Minton isn't allowed to enter the competition either because he's a dog. There's a new EEC (European Shape Law); his ears are too big, his nose drools boogies everywhere and he feels like a rusty trumpet on a rusty day.

JAZZ'S FINAL BIT

After last month's mega-generous offer of a top prize AND the chance to be able to write your very own bit, I thought I'd be muddled with so much clever wit and sparkling satire that I'd have to go to hospital and get my sides stitched up. Sadly, though at the time of writing I've received some great literary masterpieces indeed the offerings were all so pithy they could even give my bowels a bad case of gastritis. Still, I live in hope - maybe something good will turn up in the next few weeks.

WHERE HAVE ALL THE GOOD IDEAS GONE?

I've been regularly visiting the arcades for years, and have played hundreds of coin-ops from the original Space Invaders to Space Invaders '91. So why am I telling you this? Well, during that period there have been plenty of new, original ideas and some truly outstanding games. However, over the last year or so there's been very little to get really excited about. The arcade industry seems to be running out of energy and ideas.

We've had an endless line of horizontally and vertically scrolling shoot 'em ups based around the power-up/end-of-level boss concept. I'm an ardent blasting fan, but must admit to becoming sick to death of playing the same old type of game. Coin-op designers are just not using their imagination. Don't they realise there are other things they can do with the shoot 'em up genre such as use two-way scrolling environments like Defender, employ Commando-style scenarios, enhance the single-screen Galaga-style concept, re-jig the Zaxxon viewpoint, have a first-person perspective of the action instead of third person, improve the Smash TV gameplay, utilise 8-directional side-on or overhead views, or even bring the old point 'n' shoot Missile Command style game back for a re-run?

It's the same with platform games and beat 'em ups. Where are the new ideas to keep players interested? Manufacturers all seem to be playing it safe, and are not trying anything new. They just constantly produce the same games with slightly different graphics and sound in the hope that people will keep on playing.

Sega are pushing the boundaries of technology, but even they seem to be short of ideas. Radmobile is just another race game, albeit with incredible graphics and sound. G-Loc is Afterburner with knobs on, and their only real piece of originality this year, Time Traveller the laser disk game, is a dire piece of entertainment which looks interesting but has absolutely zero playability.

The only games I've played for any length of time recently are Streetfighter II (not particularly original, but at least it's superbly executed and has fabulous playability), Ramparts (that's different), Smash TV, Mad Dog McCree (a laugh and a half) and Don't Pull from Capcom. Nothing else springs to mind immediately - and when you think how many machines appeared last year, it's a sad state of affairs.

Perhaps I'm being unfair? I'd like to hear your opinions on this. Maybe you've got some suggestions of old games and ideas that you'd like to see brought up to date, or perhaps you completely disagree with me and think that the arcade industry is coming up with some great games. Write in and I'll print all the best letters I get on the subject.

JAZ

It's yet another hip-swinging swoonsome cartoon from the madcap master of mayhem, Radion Automatic. Wah-hoo! Wooo-heeee! Wooo-aaay!

JULIAN "JAZZA" RIGNALL

The biggest trouble Jazza ever got in when he was at school was during one particular maths lesson. Having walked into the classroom, he proceeded right up to the back of the room to his desk. While his teacher, Mr Prosser, had his back turned, the cheeky scamp dived out of the window, ran around to the door and walked through again, much to the amusement of his chums. He did it again, with even more hilarity. But the fourth time proved his undoing - the headmaster was walking by as he dropped out, and he was lead off to the headmaster's study for a bit of cane-related hanky spanky.

RICHARD "MORE PHONE FROLICS" LEADBETTER

Once again, the telephone is at the root of Richard's evil. This time it was modem-related hijinks as Richard and his wicked chums used the school computer system to call all sorts of bulletin boards around the world. Their favourite was in New Jersey USA, but the record price for a single call was set on some kind of an 0989 system at peak time, which totalled a massive £26.00! Not surprisingly, once the phone bill arrived in the headmaster's study, the modem was locked away forever...

OOOH-AAAH I'VE SPANGED ME CAR

That mangled red Ford Escort is a word of warning to all dads everywhere. This is what can happen when you teach your lovely wife to drive. At least, that's what happened to the parents of Jonathan Sharp of Ceigiau, Cardiff. Hee-hee!

Mick 'Mega' Foster of Shoreham, Sussex has had his beloved RS Turbo enhanced by a 'specialist mechanic' in Burgess Hill - although I don't think these were the enhancements Mick had in mind. Still, what do you expect when you boost the engine of a car which was originally designed to be driven by middle-aged farts?

No story behind the Granada estate spang sent in by Alex Ware of Burgess Hill (perhaps he was hit by a nutter in an RS Turbo?), and the same goes for the slightly scraped Golf GTI sent in by owner Richard Stainsbury of Horfield, Bristol.

Andrew and Matthew of Mildenhall, Suffolk sent in a picture of their Dad's Cavalier SRi after it was kindly modified by an American gentleman, and Darren Liptrot of St Helens has supplied us with a picture of his dinged Escort, which he 'hopes the new owner doesn't see'. Hmminn.

Any more accident pics gratefully appreciated - as long as there were no deaths or serious injuries. The address is: EXCUSE ME, MY MOTOR AND YOURS SEEM TO HAVE BRUSHED TOGETHER, MEAN MACHINES, PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGDON LANE, LONDON, EC1R 3AU.

OZ "GREEN CHAINS" BROWNE

Oz was a very saintly boy, and never got into any real trouble. Except once - nearly. Somebody had been sticking bog rolls down the boys' toilets and flooding the place out. The head had got so sick of it, that he said in assembly that special green fluid had been put on the chains, and that the guilty person would have green hands. Oz, dumbbo that he was, instantly looked at his hands and was spotted by a teacher, who accused him of being the phantom flooder. Fortunately, Oz hadn't been chain pulling, and escaped unscathed.

CURRENT FAVE GAMES: F-ZERO, UN SQUADRON, THUNDERFORCE III

GARY "FLICK-TASTIC" HARROD

Naughty Gary Harrod was a big fan of chewing pieces of paper to make them all horrible and gooey, and then flicking them on the roof. Apparently this activity had high comedy value amongst his Poole school chums. After a few months of this, the ceiling began to look like a relief map of the Andes - and it was at this point when Gary's teacher caught him "in the act". His punishment was to clamber atop the caretaker's ladder and scrape all the offending articles off the roof. Ugh!

YOU TOO CAN ENJOY THESE

NEW MEGA ACTION GAMES IN THE ### COMFORT OF YOUR OWN HOME

Hold on to your consoles!

And get ready for the roughest, toughest and fastest games yet.

In EA Hockey, from the team that brought you

John Madden American Football™, you get no points for being nice. So body-check, punch, slash and trip the opposition into submission. Get the puck into the back of the net or between the goalie's eyes, it's all part of the fun.

Should you find the rules an unnecessary hindrance, simply send the referees off to the sin bin and create even more havoc without them.

Rules won't worry you at all in Road Rash, the wildest action on two wheels. There aren't any.

There is a race. Across 5 highways from the Sierra Nevadas to the Pacific coast. But it's your skill in kicking, punching and clubbing all-comers out of your road that really counts.

As a bonus, if you get to cross the finishing line first and more or less in one piece, win cash and upgrade your bike to an even more ludicrously fast machine.

Road Rash and EA Hockey are just two of the newest games for your Mega Drive™.

Also available soon from Electronic Arts are:

The Immortal™, Fatal Rewind™, Shadow of the Beast™. Starflight™ and Dark Castle™.

DOMARK-TENGEN MEGA LINK-UP

Here's some great news for coin-op loving Sega owners - British software house Domark has signed a deal with US arcade specialists Tengen to bring their brilliant arcade conversions to this country. The deal is immediate, and before Christmas Ms PacMan, Klax and Ramparts will be released on the Master System, as well as Hard Drivin' on the Megadrive.

Early next year the Domark-Tengen deal goes into bonkers mode, and we'll be seeing the likes of Klax, Pac-Mania, Roadblasters, Ms Pac-Man, Ramparts, Pitfighter and Super Space Invaders on the Megadrive!

And if you don't think that's enough, Domark's own Master System titles, Super Space Invaders and Prince of Persia, will appear respectively in January and February of next year! We'll be covering the lot, so keep your eyes out.

MEAN MACHINES 10

'THE HEDGEHOG' "the best game ever..."

SONIC

...is now on the Master System!

Yes it's true! Sega's spectacular supersonic superstar is soon to sally forth on the Master System in a brand new adventure! When, where and how much? Well, all this information and more will be yours for the reading when we give the game a full review in a forthcoming issue - keep your eyes peeled 'cos this one's going to be MEGA!

IS IT BEASTLY?

The Megadrive conversion of the Amiga game, Shadow of the Beast is set for a November launch on the Electronic Arts label. Superficially impressive, it puts you in control of the eponymous Beast as he runs across the landscape punching things in an attempt to find and destroy the Beast Lord. The graphics are certainly impressive, but the gameplay? Well, check out the full review next month and we'll fill you in on this important aspect...

IMAGWORKS SEGA SENSATIONS

If you're a Megadrive or Master System owner, you'd better empty your bladder before reading this 'cos this news is pants-wettingly exciting!

Imageworks have just signed a deal with Acclaim in the US to bring you a series of utterly spiff-o-rama games!

First there's The Simpsons, the game of the cult TV family. Then there's Wrestlemania, a wrestling game (obviously) based around the completely hilarious antics of those muscle-bound WWF masters of mayhem like the Ultimate Warrior and Hulk Hogan.

Arnie fans are in for a treat, with games based around Total Recall and the utterly whoppa Terminator II, a film so utterly brill it's even better than sharing a sleeping bag with Michaela Strachan! And if that's not enough, on the arcade front, Imageworks will also be bringing you conversions of the basketball com-op Arch Rivals and the supra-violent, monstrously addictive Williams hit, Smash TV.

All these games are scheduled for launch during 1992 on both the Megadrive and Master System. And we'll be there to fill you in on the lot!

IMMORTAL, INVISIBLE

Other Electronic Arts Megadrive titles in the pipeline include Immortal, an interesting arcade adventure with particularly gory fight sequences, Rings of Power, a "new style of adventure", as they call it, that has "the biggest playing environment yet seen on a Megadrive", and Marble Madness, the Megadrive version of the classic coin-op (the Nintendo version is reviewed on page 70). Whee-ooo. What a bunch of busy bods those EA people are, and no mistake...

NEWS

A MEGADRIVE ACTION REPLAY

A very interesting new widget was recently unveiled to the MEAN MACHINES team: the Action Replay from Datel. It's a piece of hardware that fits between a game cartridge and the Megadrive cartridge port. When the machine is switched on, a menu appears allowing you to enter POKEs into the game's memory locations, thus giving yourself unlimited lives, energy, skip levels and so on. Since finding the correct locations is very difficult, Datel will be supplying purchasers of the Action Replay with relevant codes for virtually all available Megadrive games, as well as supplying updates for new games at regular intervals. The Action Replay will cost £49.99 when it's released in December - we'll have the full story at that time.

If you're a Game Gear owner who has access to Master System cartridges, you'll be very interested in the Master Gear, an attachment that lets you plug Master System cartridges into your Game Gear! It costs around £35.00, and will be

PREDATOR AND ALIENS INVADE

Two superb sci-fi movies, Predator II and Aliens III, are currently being turned into Megadrive games by Imageworks. Both movies have tons of action and excitement that should translate to console perfectly, so expectations are high! Both games are scheduled for mid-1992 - we'll be bringing you more information as soon as there is some...

STORY

Once again, evil creatures have taken over the fair and pleasant lands, terrorising people into submission, razing buildings to the ground for no good reason and even setting fire to people's underwear for the comedy value alone.

Enter the fearless Goeman Warrior - a man with a mission. Those marauding creatures have butchered some of his best friends while he was away on holiday and he's more than a bit upset. Goeman decides to end the evil ones' reign of terror there and then, and bring a new era of happiness to the land. What a gent, eh?

This generally involves travelling around nine areas packed with evil enemy sprites who are intent on raping and pillaging the occupied villages. With the aid of his massive Battlestick, it's Goeman's job to rid the village of these foul demons by swiping them around the chops and picking up the cash and other items they leave behind.

However, not everyone that Goeman encounters is evil. Indeed, some of the fair and gentle townsfolk actually aid Goeman in his quest. The warrior lad is also capable of entering shops and gaining useful items, provided he can cough up the necessary dough.

There's a long quest in front of him, but Goeman's a REAL man, and won't give up until the last of the evil ones has been successfully booted out of the country!

THE EXPLORATION BIT

This portion of the game simply involves Goeman strutting around a horizontally scrolling backdrop, beating up various enemy sprites, collecting icons and money. Shops are also visited on these levels.

THE PLATFORM BIT

On the way to the end-of-level guardian, Goeman Warrior enters an eight-way scrolling platform environment. Here, he uses his stick to beat up even more hapless creatures before confronting the evil boss!

▲ The tag is needed to complete the level, and here's the shop to buy it in! A snip at 980 coins!

▲ Level two's boss: use your Battlestick or magic coins to blow up the lampshades!

FLASHY THREADS

Goeman's a bit of a flashy dresser, but his threads have a function too! Both hats and armour protect Goeman from a few hits from the enemy. There are three types of hats and armour, each absorbing a certain number of hits from the nasties. Shoes are also available which increase Goeman's running speed, and this means he can pull off longer jumps too!

BONUS SUB-GAMES

Half the fun of playing Goeman Warrior is in locating the vast amount of bonus sub-games in the game. In level one, you can play a mole bash game where moles pop their heads out of holes and you smash them over the head with a massive mallet. Other delights include a Breakout game and the entire first level of Nemesis - and it's identical in every respect to the arcade original!

▲ You're in the arcade now, just about to play the Breakout game. This chick gives you the low-down - in Japanese of course!

THANKS TO...

Thanks to Advanced Console Entertainment for supplying us with a review copy of this game. If you want more information about the game, call them on 071 383 0480.

COMMENT

At first, Goeman Warrior looks pretty dull. The only thing you have to do is strut around the scrolling levels dishing out staff-related death to the enemy sprites. However, once you've actually got into it a bit, that becomes just a small part of the game. There's platform exploration sections in there as well, along with some brilliant end-of-level bosses. The graphics are tremendous. The Japanese excel at producing cuties-style games, and Goeman must rank as one of the finest examples yet, with brilliant sprites and varied backdrops. The sound is top-hole too, with some funky Jay tunes to swing your pants to. But it's going to be the vast quest that keeps you glued to the Famicom. You might have completed something like R-Type on your third go, but Goeman offers many days of frustrating (but yet completely addictive) gameplay. Yet another brilliant game for the Super Famicom!

RICH

STRANGE ICONS

A number of highly useful items are found in Goeman Warrior. Some are found by simply beating up the enemies. Others are well hidden behind false walls. If you're willing to throw away the necessary wonga, some of these items can be purchased at the shop.

This book may look pretty boring, but in fact, possession of this item enables you to converse with the locals of a later level!

▼ Gold felines add extra notches to your energy bar so Goeman is capable of taking even more damage! A rather essential item.

GOEMAN'S CHUM

Goeman isn't the only person up against the might of the evil ones. Should you have a pal ready to play, simultaneous two-player action is the order of the day. The game itself isn't significantly different, but it's possible to climb on the other's shoulders so whilst one walks in one direction, the second player can attack in the opposite direction!

LOADS OF FOOD

Food is available from the shops which boost Goeman's energy. This food can be stashed away in his rucksack until needed, thus supplying a constant source of energy.

These blue pots are quite common in the game. Smash them open and magic powers, loads o' lolly or a useful item could be yours!

This tag may look fairly useless, but the guardian of one level won't let you by unless you're carrying this about!

COMMENT

JULIAN great fun to play, with tons of things to discover hidden behind the doors of the houses in the village exploration sections - there's a mole bash game, the entire first level of Nemesis (and it's arcade perfect!), a Breakout game, a horse racing game, a couple of weirdo fruit machines... and that's only on three of the levels I've visited! The arcade platform sections are really superb, with real tests of skill as you battle through all sorts of hazards to reach the wild 'n' wacky end-of-level guardian - the giant floating monkey-clown face is my personal fave. With weeks of potential challenge and enjoyment (and I mean that literally), Goeman Warrior is a must for Super Famicom owners.

MEAN YOB!

He's here, so cheer, or he'll call you queer. It's YOB, the greatest letter answerer in the whole Universe. And he's a-dippin' into his bulging sack once again to answer your letters in his own, kind, sensitive way. If you've got anything to say, or have pictures, photos (incriminating or otherwise), jokes or

WHAT A SADIST!

Dear YOB,

I recently played on a game on the Amiga called Reel 'n' Fishing which was a fishing game (surprise, surprise), I really enjoyed it but the problem is I haven't got an Amiga, I've got a Spectrum and a Nintendo NES, so I've got two questions for you.

1. Are there any games which involves fishing for the Nintendo NES or Spectrum?
2. If so how would I be able to get them and where?

Lastly if you don't publish this letter you are the biggest low life in the entire universe.

Gavin Rose, Waltham Abbey

YOB: I asked games guru Jaz about fishing games, and he said that there's an ancient Spectrum game (about five years old) called Jackie Charlton's Match Fishing (but he doesn't know where you can get it from these days) and that two fishing games were released on the Nintendo in America recently - Black Bass and Blue Marlin. But he says they're both as boring and dull as the "reel" thing. Anyway, who's the biggest low-life you spong-featured scrot? Lovely old me, or a sad, perverted sadist who enjoys a "sport" where the participant tricks poor, unintelligent creatures into swallowing sharp metal hooks, and then pulls them out of their natural environment while the hook is still embedded in the roof of their mouths?

A SAD CASE...

Dear YOB,

One day The Mario Bros decided to visit Captain Skyhawk and Luigi geese vasectomy equipment, send them in to: YOB'S SIZZLING ORGANIC ORGANISM MAIL SACK, MEAN MACHINES, PRIORITY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGDON LANE, LONDON, EC1R 3AU. Don't forget about that there's a prize of £150.00 for the best letter of the month...

suggested visiting Megaman 2. They set out early as the weatherman had predicted Days of Thunder. On the way some Bad Dudes armed with Blades of Steel attempted to Rush 'n' Attack them. Mario reached for his Ironsword but he had forgotten it. Fortunately a Wild Gunnman was passing and he would have used his Kung Fu to defeat the Bad Dudes. Further along Hogan's Alley they asked a Paperboy for directions. He directed them to a party at Castlevania. This gave Mario a chance to show off his latest heavy Metal Gear, tell old Duck Tales and get pissed. After the party they nicked a Rad Racer and did some Turbo Racing around the Track and Field 2 before returning home and waking up with a hangover.

THE END.

Richard Newbold, Alveston

YOB: What was the point of that, eh?

▲ The only means of identifying the artist here is the signature, "STU". Remember to put your name on the back!

◀ From the same guy who sent in last last month's Gameboy pic: Brian Best!

PUT YOUR BRAIN IN GEAR!

Dear YOB,

I have a problem which I'm sure is common among Nintendo NES owners. The problem is keeping the gamepak boxes in good condition. I find that a few weeks after purchase they start to look pretty shabby (especially if you let your friends borrow them!) and the small black boxes that come with them are pretty useless. Thus making it harder to sell them back to computer shops when you are tired of the game. One cheap tip I would like to suggest for making a storage box is to get an empty Typhon Tea box (250g/80 tea bags) break down the tabs, open out the box and rebuild it inside out. This leaves you with a nice neat grey box, in this you can store 3 game paks in their boxes or 4 without perfectly. With room at the side to store instructions! But this isn't really the answer is it? For the price you pay for the games a cardboard box isn't good enough. Supplying plastic boxes with the games should become standard like the Sega games.

Rich Newbold, Alveston, Derby
YOB: Why don't you take the carts out of the gamepak boxes when you first get them and put the boxes in a safe, dry place like your loft? As long as you're reasonably careful, the carts are tough enough not to get tatty. And when it's flag-off time, get the pristine boxes out of their safe haven. Dear me, what a dozy no-initiative git you are...

OH DEAR, SOMEONE'S IN TROUBLE

Dear Mean YOB

I read in this month's MEAN MACHINES tips for Mega Man 2 by Kristian Biggs. And I thought 'I've seen those tips before' so I flicked through volume 3 - 1991 issue 2 of Club Nintendo and sure enough there they were the exact same tips. Kristian had copied them word for word. What do you think of these Nintendo games Turtles II, WWF Wrestling Mania Challenge and RBI Baseball 2? What do you think is better a Nintendo or a Sega?

Adrian Coker, Clapham

PS MEAN MACHINES is the best mag ever.

YOB: Well, Mr low-down cheaty boy Kristian Biggs better watch out that the editor of Club Nintendo, Mark Smith, doesn't go round to his house and kick his monkey ass up and down the garden path. Kristian, if you see a crappy blue Astra pull up outside your front gate you'd better get running...

ELVIS IS ALIVE AND BLASTING ALIENS

Dear Mean YOB

I am writing to you after reading Alien Storm review because I would like to share an amazing find with you.

The King is alive and kicking (well blasting alien ass) inside MEAN MACHINES Megadrive. Oh yes, I'm talking ELVIS. Sega may have changed his name to Gordon but they can't fool me, that face on the panel, that haircut, that collar, that cool techno style six string, that cool dance he's utilising on the screen shot between Julian's comment and the Jap UK differences box!

It is it's him Elvis. Call The Sun. The Mirror and The Sport. We have a scoop here, a world exclusive!

Chris Yates, Stockport, Cheshire

YOB: Well spotted! And as a prize you get not one, but two great Elvis jokes! What would Elvis be doing if he was alive now? Shouting "get me out of this ruddy coffin"! And what would he be singing if he was alive now? Don't step on my green, suede face.

GAMEPLAYING CRIPS AHOY!

Dear Mean YOB

I read with interest the review of Alien Storm in the August edition of the mighty MEAN MACHINES - how can Julian Rignall and Richard Leadbetter rate a game as utterly brill as 'Storm a measly 71%? OK it's not as hard as Gaires but neither is it as easy as putting on a pair of trousers or "everyone in the office completed the game within half an hour of its arrival". I've got the Jap versions with just the three continuities and in my opinion (and that of all my mates that can't put the game down) is that its difficulty level is that of Golden Axe - in fact at the time of writing I've had the game a week and only one of us has finished it - me.

David Oliver, Maesteg, Mid Glamorgan

YOB: Jaz says that you must be a sad, shambling, hopeless crip of a player to take that long to finish the game, and reckons the rest of your mates are gifted with the gaming abilities of a baboon's fart in a wheelchair being pushed around Marks and Spencers in Wrexham on a Wednesday afternoon.

MEAN YOB!

ARE YOU
CALLING MY AMIGA A
NANCY BOY?

Dear YOB

I would like to congratulate you on how you handled KEY (the boy with spastication in his blood) TURNER in issue 10.

I also owned an Amiga but I sold it and got a Famicom.

I was very happy with my Amiga but the graphics and animation on games were just getting worse.

So Mr Key Turner, if you are reading this months issue of MEAN MACHINES, which you bloody well should, YOB has not got dirty party pants, you are a spaz and the Famicom is ACE!

Scott Leslie, Aberdeen

YOB: Well, that's settled that one. I'm sure we'll get no comeback on the subject...

SONS OF MARY WHITEHOUSE

Dear Mean YOB,
On a Saturday 3rd August, we discovered in a certain American console magazine on a double page spread, an advertisement for Razorsoft's Stormlord.

It stated clearly that Stormlord had been temporarily banned from retail and has yet to receive a rating. Due to this, we think Razorsoft are eventually going to give the Megadrive a bad name. Their previous game, Technocop, is a very poor example of what the MD is capable of. We also found out that Technocop got a 12 certificate. Razorsoft are using violence and gore to sell their products. If this is Razorsoft's form of entertainment then their future is surely doomed.

Yes, Golden Axe was violent but Sega handled it in a yo! Mean Machines, the most wicked consoles

mog in the cosmos!

non-violent manner, and the same can be said about several other Sega products.

Razorsoft's upcoming games are Slaughter Sports and Death Duel. Surely Sega can see that no good will come out of these tasteless and tacky products.

Believe us, Razorsoft will be receiving a lot of letters from the parents of younger Megadrive owners. Thanks for listening.

Daniel Toporowski, Jason Baines

YOB: Oh dear, oh dear, oh dear... The whole violence thing is Razorsoft's marketing plan, and you fell for it like the self righteous gits you are. They thrive on people like you shouting with indignation, saying what a disgrace it all is - then other people, who want to see what the fuss is about, will

MONKEY ASS BOY WRITES

Dear Mean YOB.

You wouldn't dare publish this letter because you're a chicken, you're so chicken, you definitely dare not publish this letter. Your mag is great but you should do something for a Commodore 64 console and more people would buy it. Well, you're the chicken if you didn't publish this letter. Alex Buckle

PS. I've got a Super Famicom. So there.

YOB: Yeah, and you'll also have a very bruised ass once I've finished kicking you up and down the street. So there.

MYOPIA CENTRAL

Dear Mean YOB,

I sprinted down the shop the other day for my copy of the August edition of MEAN MACHINES. Then I sprinted back home to read the Ultimate Console Magazine but when I turned the page to my horror what did I see, well, I saw an Amiga.

In the editorial it showed Julian Rignall playing on an Amiga, I mean you don't buy a console mag to see computers and that picture is out of an old C+VG number 108 to be exact. Please give me the star letter. I need the software. Steven King, Sunderland

YOB: Where are your eyes, you stupid great half-wit? That's a PC Jazza's tapping away on - he's using it to write the magazine you dozy git! I think you deserve a gold-plated "doh" for that!

ANOTHER SAD CASE...

Dear Mean YOB,

There is only one real reason why I am writing to you. It's not because I want to know where you got your crappy haircut from, nor is it because I want to know how many MEAN MACHINES copies you are ate proudly last month.

The reason is simply this, I want that £150 worth of software coming to me.

And if you don't I'll go and find that big, brown, hairy bulging letter sack of yours and rip everyone else's letter up except mine, then you have to give me the prize. Got it!

Ben Walker, Luton

YOB: Are you sure you haven't spelled your surname wrong? I'm sure that one of the letters should be an "n".

NOT THE STAR LETTER

Dear YOB,

I am writing to tell you about myself, I used to be bored with life. I had no interests, no hobbies basically I had nothing except a

Spectrum ZX+ (which was a little crap) and of course I had a few mags for it, where were so crap that they were not even good enough to wipe my bum on. I had thought of committing suicide. But then, as if by magic, I stumbled across your mag MEAN

MACHINES. Now if life or my mum gets me down I read the reviews in your mag and make a long list of the games I want but which I can't afford (hint hint). Your mag is more informative than the Times, more interesting than the Sunday Sport and more colourful than Playboy (of course not implying that I read it). In other words your mag is breathtaking, amazing, cool, hip and all those other crap words.

Nick Pullen, Cheam, Surrey

YOB: And you expect me to send you some free software? On your bike chum, and take the saddle off first so you can enjoy the ride that little bit more.

go and buy their games. Razorsoft know that Technocop is a pile of old tosh, and use the gore factor (which I thought was laughably stupid anyway) to try and sell the game. Just ignore the gore and people will ignore the game.

Something's glittering and glistening in the fog. What is it? It's Jazza's in his special answering trousers, making his way to work for a day-long session of opening and answering as many of your questions as possible. If you've got something to ask - and we're sure you have - why not write in? The address is: JAZZA GET TO THE "BOTTOM" OF MY "PILE" OF QUESTIONS OR I'LL DO ONE IN MY PANTS, MEAN MACHINES, PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGDON LANE, LONDON, EC1R 3AU.

TROUSER-RELATED ANTICS

Dear Jaz,
I'm a Nintendo owner and I am quite angry that Nintendo don't have any good beat 'em ups, driving or football games. Do you agree? Well, enough of that, down to some questions.

1. Have Nintendo got any plans to bring Road Rash out?
2. Is WWF Superstar Wrestling any good?

THIS ONE COULD BE HARD

Dear Jaz,
Could you please answer the following questions?

1. With the more advanced machines coming out, Famicom, Megadrive, etc, is the NES' future secure?
2. Is it possible to enable American NES games to run on the British machine?
3. When will they be out, and what do you think of the following: Star Wars, WWF Wrestling, Terminator II on the NES?
4. What do you think of the following games on the Gameboy? Simpsons, Terminator II, Bill and Ted's Gameboy Adventure and

EGGY BREATH

Dear Jaz,
I have just bought a Super
Famicom and I would like to ask you some questions that have been on my mind for some time.

1. Which of these games
you think are the best?

Super Ghouls 'n' Ghosts,
UN Squadron,
Sim City,
Caveman Ninja,
Wing Commander

2. Which games on the Famicom would get your award for sound and graphics?

3. Why do you wear rugger shirts all the time?
Geoffrey Chang, Chippenham

JAZ: I haven't seen Wing Commander yet, but all the other games you mentioned are excellent. Judging by the early copy I saw in the States, Super Ghouls 'n' Ghosts should get the best graphics and sound award - wait for the review next month, and see. Rugger shirts are the tops for work wear: they look good, they're comfortable, completely casual, hard-wearing

POLISH IT BEHIND THE DOOR

Yo Jules Baby (not that you are one).

I am a not-so proud owner of a Commodore VIC-20 (and also a Gameboy) and I was wonderin' if you could answer a few of my questions.

1. Is the VIC-20 a collectors' item or antique yet?
2. If so, how much could I sell for? It's got 16 games included!
2. If not, when will it be a collectors' item?
4. If not, how much could I get for it, roughly (don't forget it's got 16 games included)?
5. I have saved up £280 and am deciding whether to get a Super Famicom with two games from importers, a Megadrive with about six games, buy another Gameboy with about 10-11 games (and sell the one I have now) or save up for a cheap Skoda?

and can be washed easily (except my white St Helens shirt which went a bit funny 'cos the water was too hot - doh!). By the way, does anyone out there know where I can get a Hull KR rugby league shirt from (the blue and yellow one)? The first person to supply me with the name of a shop where I can get one will win a game for his/her console.

BENETTON SMEGGY BABY

Dear cool Jaz,
I am a proud Megadrive and Gameboy owner.

1. Is Streets of Rage better or worse than Final Fight?
2. YOB said in issue 12 that the Mega CD is the Gigadrive. Does this then mean that Sega have dumped the Arcade System?
Mark Warren, Wellingborough
JAZ: Hmmm. A difficult first question. They're both superb beat 'em ups. Final Fight has great graphics, more challenge and its fist action is more satisfying, but Streets of Rage has two-player action, more variety and better music. I'm going to cop out and say they're both as good as each other. The components of the Arcade System are still being developed for something else - I'll let you know when I have more info.

6. Is it true that if you buy an imported console like a Japanese Megadrive or sumfin' like that, not the official UK version, that you have to blow the cartridges a lot before the game loads properly? Daniel Rodrigues, London
JAZ: 1/2/3/4. Wait 20-30 years and if it still works, that VIC-20 might become a collector's item. But to be honest, machines like the ZX-81 and BBC will be more valuable, because people will remember them better. At the moment you might get £40.00 for it if you find a mug with brain damage. 5. Don't do any of the above - send it to Jazza's Special (Un-Registered) Jetski Charity Fund c/o the above address. 6. I don't know who or what told you that, but they're sick, sad individuals who should go to the pervert clinic and have their goolies seen to.

HIDE THE SAUSAGE!

Dear Jazza,

In a shop I saw a Lynx. The description said "Lynx Portable Games System, 16-bit generator giving arcade graphics", then I went to a catalogue shop and it said "Lynx fully portable video games system, 32-bit generator giving arcade-perfect graphics".

1. Why does one say 16-bit and the other 32-bit?
2. If it is wrong, could they be prosecuted under the Trades Descriptions Act?

Please print this if it is wrong or else some people will be fooled into buying the Lynx.

Rob Buckley, Derby

JAZ: 1. Because they're both completely wrong. 2. Maybe - does anyone care enough to try it out?

DINGLE DANGLE DONGLE

Yo Jules! (mega cool dude)
I'm the proud owner of a Super Famicom, please could you answer my following questions.

1. When the Simpsons arrives on the Famicom, do you know if it's tops for graphics, sound and playability? And does it play like the arcade?

2. Have you any information on Mario V?

3. Will Turtles II (the arcade game) come on the Famicom, if so when?

Stuart Dowson, Brackley

Northants
JAZ: 1. It's not the arcade game and since it's not even a quarter finished yet and I haven't got m Special Bleeding' Oracle trouser on, I can't tell you how it plays.

2. No. 3. No.

HASTA LA VISTA, BABY

Dear Jaz,
I own a Sega Game Gear. Will you please answer my questions?

1. Do Sega have a club like Club Nintendo. If so, how do I join
2. At around what price is the TV tuner?

3. Where can I get a case for my Game Gear?

4. Is there any chance of Sonic the Hedgehog being released for the Game Gear this year?

5. What's Outrun like?
Jamie Martin, Somerset

JAZ: 1. No. 2. I dunno - Sega haven't finished making it yet. Check importers, although the selection I've seen so far look like a load of nancy-boys' handbags. 4. Answering in the positive to that question would be very near to the truth. 5. The graphics and sound are alright but it's easier than wetting your pants on a cold day after consuming 16 pints of lager.

WHERE'S MIKE HUNT?

Dear Jazza,
Please help me, at first I was going to get a Megadrive with two games. Next I was going to get a Gameboy with six games. Then I thought of getting a Game Gear. Please help me make up my mind. Scot MacPherson, Haydock, Merseyside

JAZZ: Given the choice, I'd get the Megadrive.

SHINY, SLAPPY PEOPLE

Dear Jazza,
I desperately need the answers to the following Super Famicom questions.

1. My mate told me that PAL Famicoms are unreliable and overheat. Is this true?

2. Are PAL Famicom's graphics inferior to that of SCART Famicoms?

3. Will a SCART Famicom work on a television with a SCART socket and if so, will the graphics be of monitor quality?

4. Will the Super NES be available on import soon?

5. When will it be released in the UK?

6. Where you once on a cheap and nasty Channel 4 program called Early Bird, because I thought I saw your friend face on a video tape at my friend house?
Ryan Bennett, Keighley, West Yorkshire
- JAZZ: 1. Yep. 2. Ye-e-p. 3. Yeeeeee-ep. 4. Yee-eaaaaaeeeep. 5. September 1992. 6. Yep.

POP IT ON THE TABLE

Dear Jazza 'I've got a lovely pair isty bitsy teeny weeny yellow polka dot bikini trousers' Rignal, I will soon be the proud owner of a Megadrive and I have a few questions:

1. When will you be reviewing Street Smart for the Megadrive?
2. I recently played an arcade game called Rad Mobile, manufactured by Sega. Will it be released on the Megadrive?
3. I have also played a game called Laser Ghost. Will that be released?
4. Have you issued any cheats for Mickey Mouse on the Megadrive and if you have, in what issues?

If you print this letter, I'll really appreciate it. And I'll crap myself repeatedly!
Chris Tomkins, Basingstoke

JAZZ: 1. No, it's so crap we didn't think it was even worth reviewing. 2. Possibly - but it's a very difficult machine to convert. 3. Yes. 4. No, only hints, and they're far too long to fit here. Anyway, now I've printed your letter, you'd better get crapping, skiddy-knicks.

BUST YOUR MONKEY ASS

Dear Jazza,
A few answers to these meagre questions is all I ask.

1. Which of these beat 'em ups would you consider the best: Final Fight, Pitfighter, Vigilante or Streetfighter II?
2. Which would you say is the best out of Mickey Mouse on the Megadrive or Super Mario World on the Famicom, because both got the same overall percentage of 96% in CVG?
William Sutton, South Croydon
- JAZZ: 1. In the arcades, Streetfighter II is tops in my book by a long chalk. 2. Super Mario World is tons better.

JELLY HEAD STRIKES BACK

Dear Jazza,
I am a very proud owner of a brilliant Game Gear and so was very pleased to read in a recent CVG that Super Kick Off will be coming out on the machine. But in a reply to a letter from Paul Baker in the August edition of MEAN MACHINES, you stated that no decent soccer games have been announced for the Game Gear. Please could you clarify this point as I am desperate to get this amazing soccer game.

The Phantom HIG IV, London
JAZZ: The August edition of the mag came out before the Game Gear version of Super Kick Off was announced. So sit back, calm down and wait for the game to appear - we'll tell you where, when and how much as soon as we know.

SWIVELLING SALIVA ATTACHMENT

Dear Jazza,
I own a Sega Megadrive and was thinking of getting some new carts. What do you think of these?

Bonanza Brothers,
Wrestle Wars,
Road Rash,
Super Thunderblade,

Ghouls 'n' Ghosts,
Spider-Man,
NHL Ice Hockey.
Enzo Maffioli, Burley, Hants
JAZZ: In order: a good conversion but too easy; great wrestling action, but a bit simple; best Sega race game yet - and one of the finest on any system; pile of old cack that should be avoided; skill arcade conversion with mega music; excellent platform game; a fine simulation of the sport that's a must. Okay?

CAPTAIN SKYHAWK

WEAPONS AND THEIR USES

To destroy the enemy base you have to shoot the four pods on the outside (using the cannon) and then when they are destroyed, concentrate your fire on the centre pod. Use the hawk bombs to do this (press button B and hold and release) shoot 3 times and then the whole base should be exterminated.

DOCKING THE AIRCRAFT

Use the control pad to make the plane go up and down. Do not go left or right as this puts you off course. Use the buttons very gently and lightly to get Captain Skyhawk in to the exact centre of the docking bay. Press the B button when the docking bay is horizontal with the plane's wings.

Get the Hawk Bombs, and use them to bomb the base. The Maverick missile and the cannons are also very good. The Aim 54 Phoenix missile is best for air-to-air combat.

AIR-TO-AIR COMBAT

This part of the mission is the same throughout all of the missions except the last mission. But they all won't be as easy as this one. Use the square box in front of the plane to aim. The cannon is best for this job (although Aim 54 Phoenix missile are very good at locking on) so press button A. The cannon has an unlimited supply of firepower so it doesn't run out.

Try to shoot as many planes as you can down as these turn into credits at the end of the mission.

WEAPONS MENU

AIM54 PHOENIX MISSILE: Two credits
The limit is four missiles

CANNON: Ten credits
The cannon can be upgraded five times.

HAWK BOMBS: Two credits
The limit is six bombs.

DROPPING OFF SUPPLIES

Search for two large crosses on these levels and when found, press button B to drop supplies into the hole. To make it easier watch your shadow as this will give you your exact position. Try to drop the supplies first time as every time you miss and pass over the hole your fuel lowers.

PICKING UP SCIENTISTS

In mission four, the scientist you rescue has the detonation component for the secret weapon. The other scientist in mission eight has the firing mechanism needed for the secret weapon. When the scientist comes aboard, you may notice that he looks remarkably similar to a black bomb.

THE ALIEN SPACE STATION

As soon as you approach the alien space station start firing your secret weapon by pressing button A. To blow up the space station you must first blow up all 20 of the outer pods and then the centre eye, and that's it!

SOLAR JETMAN

Try the following code to get to planet 14 - the hidden world, thanks to Raymond Doran from County Armagh! You will have 15 ships, shields and over 700,000 in your account:

ZHHZQQQQNNNN

SUPER MARIO BROS

Here is a way to receive 100 1-ups thanks to K Scott from Dorchester.

The third realm holds a big secret. At the end of the first level you'll reach another pyramid wall, with a Koopa marching down at you. CAREFULLY leap on to the left side of its shell. This will pin the monster and each time you pounce on him you'll be rewarded with a 1-up. But beware, if you collect more than 100 lives, the cartridge is programmed to kill them all.

TIPS*DUCK TALES

When you get a lift back with Launchpad, if the second number in your score is a seven, you will drop down onto some clouds and Giro will come and start throwing diamonds at you. Try to do this on each level and you will become a multi-millionaire. Not bad eh? Thanks to Philip Wall of Haywards Heath in Sussex.

FAXANADU

Go to the king and get your 1500 golds as usual. Now spend them on all the stuff you can buy but make sure you spend all the golds or the cheat won't work. Then go to the person who says "I want you to see the king right away". Go to the king again and get another 1500 gold off him. That will help you buy something in the next town. Thanks to Paul Fitzpatrick from Liverpool.

IMPOSSIBLE MISSION

Paul Coombs from Totton in Hants sent in this invaluable set of tips for this classic Sega Master System game, almost certainly the best platform game for the ageing console! So, if you can't get further into the game, try out some of Paul's tips - they could get you further into the game!

THE ROBOTS

The Robots give 4125 a big problem. Here's how you get around them. As you go along draw a map of the bunker marking of the rooms, if a robot in the room gives you problems don't mark it off and later on in the game you can come back with a robot snooze. Also mark off the music game rooms and the control room with a different symbol. Now you can find them when you have found the password and get more snoozes. This may seem a long way to do it but it does not take much longer than one hit from a robot.

THE PUZZLE

Go through all the rooms searching all the rooms to the left or right of the lift shaft. Repeat this until you have searched all the rooms. After every three or four puzzle pieces collected see if they fit. Do what you can with these pieces and then move on. Repeat this process after you have found three or four more pieces of the puzzle.

THE MUSIC GAME

The music game is very helpful. When you have played the game a few times you can go back to the rooms you have failed to finish searching and use your snoozes you have won. You can spend a long time in there because a robot hit takes off ten minutes so you stay in there ten or twenty minutes safely.

LIFT RESETS

These can be very handy if you're stuck and you can reach a computer terminal. You can play the music game to win these too. These are more common to find than robot snoozes but you do not need them as much as the robot snoozes so they are never in short supply.

GENERAL TIPS

1. Always keep track of time.
2. Use your lift resets and robot snoozes wisely.
3. Keep track of puzzle pieces.
4. Think logically.

It's the Megadrive beat 'em up of a lifetime! It's the game everyone's talking about. It's the game where more monkey asses get dusted than in any other! It's Streets of Rage - or Bare Knuckle, as it's known in Japan. And now, thanks to Phil Mann of Tufnell Park, here's the ultimate player's guide. Enjoy!

MR BOOMERANG

This boomerang thrower is history if you just use grab attacks. Kick him in the head twice and throw him. It's a painful attack, and Mr Boomerang can only take about four or so attacks. Hal

RAZORGLOVES

A fairly simple foe to beat if you remember NEVER to use flying kicks. This provokes this enemy to suddenly blur and lash out at you, leading to instant death in the majority of cases. Instead, use grab attacks, and remember to call in the SWAT guys to finish him off.

STREETS OF RAGE

THE BARBARIAN

Rushing on-screen and lashing out with a powerful fist attack, the barbarian is bad news. Or is he? In fact, the barbarian has the intellectual capacity of a Danii Minogue fan. Simply by using back attacks (pressing buttons B and C together) all the time, the barbarian is dead meat. In order to make the process a tad more varied, a grab attack after a back attack is quite entertaining.

A HOLE IN THE GROUND....

Look out for holes in the ground. It's fatal to you if you get thrown in, but more importantly, it's deadly to the enemy as well! So, just wait for them to pile on, grab them, and throw them hole-wards. Your problems are instantly solved.

CHOOSE YOUR WEAPON

The only weapon really worth the bother is the knife, and that's only really because it looks neat to throw it across the screen, especially if it hits your pal in two-player mode! Seriously though, when you meet the guys who juggle axes and firebrands, pick up a knife, baseball bat or pipe and swipe them with it. Normal punches take ages to register, but a weapon damages them immediately AND disarms them into the bargain. Not bad, eh?

TWO-PLAYER LAFFS

Teaming up to produce the two-player mega-move is one of the most stylish things you can do in Streets of Rage. However, the person who isn't flying through the air should stay still, because the chances are that if he moves, he'll get mown down by the mega-attack of the other player. Doh!

BLAZE'S SISTERS

Blaze Fielding may be one of the goodies, but her identical sisters are dedicated to the arts of evil. They're also two of the deadliest foes in the game. Indeed, the only foolproof way to attack them successfully is to use back attacks on them, but even this is difficult when they're using flying kicks. Time to call in the SWAT guys...

THE FIRE-BREATHER

This fat, round blubber boy is a difficult foe. He'll rush you, using his fire to deck you and a pretty good job he does too. Position yourself so he'll rush by you and use a back attack to bring him down. Now, as he rises, grab him. If you grab him from behind, don't throw him - such is his weight, he'll flatten you! If you

TAKING THE LIFT

Level seven is staged on a lift rising up the side of Mr Big's skyscraping headquarters. The level can be completed much quicker simply by using throws to chuck your assailants off the side of the lift! When the screen's crowded with enemies, it's possible to throw your foes off the side in time to the ker-azy beat of the in-game tune - now that's style!

MR BIG

When you confront Mr Big, he'll ask you a question. The problem is, the text is in Japanese (if you're running the game on a Jap Megadrive), but suffice to say, when it comes to selecting an answer, choose the bottom one, or else Mr Big will warp you back to level six! Mr Big himself is a complete weed, who only causes problems when he whips out his Uzi and sprays the screen with bullets. Stay at the top of the screen to avoid being hit. Now just use flying kicks and grab attacks, and Mr Big is easily defeated.

WONDERBOY IN MONSTERLAND

Neil Hanson (master games player indeed!) sent in these valuable tips for all those stuck on this Master System adventure. Cheers!

If you are having trouble finding the dragon in his massive castle, your troubles are over - this is how to find him. At the start keep going right until there is a choice to go up or down - go down. Then keep going right to the first drop. Drop down and take the right drop. Then go left until the next drop and drop down there, and take the first platform on your right. Do the same again, then continue right until you see a brick moving up and down, jump on it then jump again to the right then keep jumping onto alternate bricks, but be careful because the bricks start to fall when you jump on them. Go right to the top then go left until you can choose up or down. Choose down then carry on left then you find yourself near a drop. Drop down there and take the second on the right then go right then drop down straight to the bottom. Go right and keep going right until the first drop you see. Drop straight down to the bottom, go left and carry on going left and at the end you will see a red snake, kill it and carry on left and you should be in a futuristic type of place, carry on left, knock on the door and beat the dragon in!

The Heos Emblem will help you beat the dragon. Here is how to obtain it. First, on level two in the cave when it says "someone be beyond the wall" land on that platform and knock. This lady will tell you to give the scroll to Catherine. Catherine lives in the coastal town of Baraboro, and is to be found around the drinks store. She will give you a flute. To use the flute you must go to the Echo Tower in the southern island (which is on level seven). Play the flute by pressing up then carry on right. You will come to a palace. Go inside and you will find an old man who will give you a charm to give to the catfish. The catfish lives in the level 11 seabed store, knock on there once and you will get a normal shop but knock on there twice and the catfish will give you the emblem. Then there is nothing stopping you from giving the dragon a good spanking.

ESWAT

Simon Lambe from Warley in the West Midlands sent in this brilliant guide for the Master System version of ESWAT.

WEAPONS

BULLET: Bullets are good for normal enemies but end-of-level guardians need loads of hits to die.

HEAT CHARGE: The best weapons by far, excellent on all enemies but performs best on the guardians.

SPRAY SHOT: Don't bother with this!

LASER: Effective on the enemy sprites and fairly good on guardians.

GUARDIANS LEVEL ONE

This is the rolling man. Stand up when he fires, fire and duck quickly. When he rolls, jump over him. Repeat this until he is dead.

When you meet up with Nasty Nick, if he's is about to throw something at you, jump up and shoot him in the head.

LEVEL TWO

This is the fire-man. Just keep shooting! Try to use your flamethrower, if you can't shoot him, just dodge the missiles. Watch out because he changes direction when shot.

LEVEL THREE

Use the flamethrower on this robot-like entity. If not, shoot off his guns and green orbs in order to kill it.

LEVEL FOUR

Just shoot like hell at this gladiator! Jump over him and watch out when he swings at you, but otherwise, this shouldn't cause much of a problem.

LEVEL FIVE

Shoot at the Chameleon Twins but don't use your special weapons. When they're green, watch out as they attack, and when they flash it means a missile is about to launch, so watch it then, too!

FINAL GUARDIANS

Just shoot the reactor's guns and let it have it. This destroys the reactor and causes the appearance of the Doctor. When he arrives shoot all of the orbs and use two special weapons. When the Doctor comes down, use a special weapon on him to destroy his force field. Now shoot him and avoid his ninja stars. Now just sit back and watch the end-of-game sequence.

When you're reloading weapons, press the following buttons to gain a maximum load of 100 missiles. This tip, along with the Arnold Palmer's one, was sent by someone whose name I've lost. Sorry!

 STAGE 5: RIGHT and B
 STAGE 9: B
 STAGE 11: RIGHT and B
 STAGE 16: RIGHT and B
 STAGE 19: B
 STAGE 21: RIGHT and B

AFTER BURNER

AERIAL ARCADE ACE

GYNOUG

I was going to print this a couple o' months ago, but I lost the bit of paper with the tip on it! Doh! Still, thanks to Miss Rita Guinness that tip can be yours. If you want infinite credits, hold down A and C together with LEFT when the GAME OVER screen appears. An extra credit will be yours, and you can do this as manytimes as you want and never be without credits! Nick Millinchip from Kidderminster sent in this tip to get up a level select. Just move the arrow to the CONTROLS section and press button A down for approximately 15 seconds. The appropriate menu will then appear.

SUPER MONACO GP

Here's an interesting code to get to the last round in Super Monaco GP with 126 points and the best car, Firenze (it turns out that Madonna's car isn't really that hot). Glenn Wallace from Neasden sent this in. Check it out.

VERYTEX

Benny Choi from somewhere in the depths of Middlesex has revealed these cunning cheats for this pretty tedious shoot 'em up.

EXTRA LIVES: At any stage of the game, pause and hold down A, B, and C, and then still holding down the buttons, unpause. Repeat this until you have all the lives you desire!

EXTRA SHIELDS: At any stage of the game, pause, then push RIGHT, and still pushing RIGHT, unpause. Keep doing this until you think you've got the right amount of shields.

POWERBALL

Here's a natty little tip for Powerball on the Megadrive (this should also work on the Jap version, named Wrestle Ball). On the team select screen press down buttons B, B, C, B, B, C in sequence and then push down to reveal the top four teams to play with. Ian Ralph from Linlithgow sent that in.

TWIN COBRA

Tips courtesy of Snardy Cadette. According to him, you can view the end of the game without actually playing it by pressing UP, DOWN, RIGHT, LEFT, A, B, C and then START on the title screen. Also, if you fancy playing the game with 14 continues, press START and then keep pressing button A until you have 14 credits.

ARNOLD PALMER'S GOLF

To access a secret level, enter lower case "t" along the top row of the password screen then "9" along the bottom row. You will now find yourself in a new tournament with an ageing caddy who natters on about anything you could imagine!

ROBOCOP

Here's some sound advice for Robocop on the Gameboy courtesy of Alistair Coakes from Epsom, starting from level two.

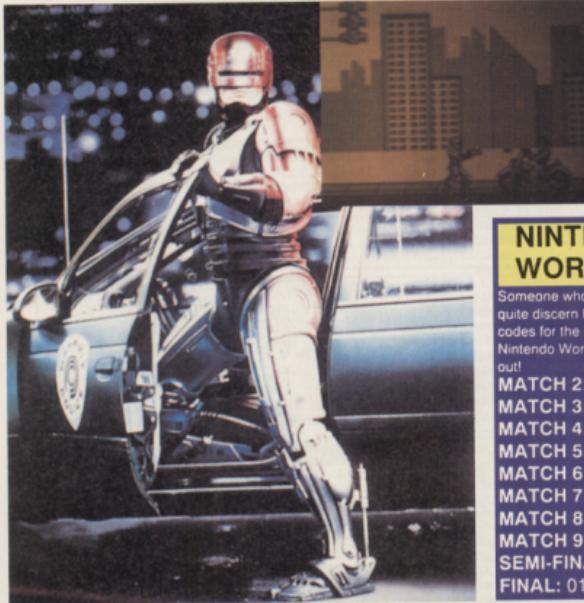

On level two, pause right at the beginning then aim for ED209's right elbow. Shoot about five times fast, then pause re-aim and shoot again. Do it all again and again until he finally dies. If you're good you should be able to do it in under seven seconds.

Level three is quite easy so you can either complete, and you need serious mental aid if you're unable to complete this stage unaided.

Levels four and five shouldn't pose any problems if you've managed to get this far on your own.

Then on level six against ED209 you should have enough energy to kill him. The best method is to walk towards Dick Jones as quickly as you can, then run back towards the lift again after Directive 4 has had its dramatic effect, and ED209 will follow you. When he is about an inch from you on the screen run into him and press buttons A and B together to punch him in the head. Don't bother trying to dodge his bullets but keep on punching his head. After three short retreats, ED209's head will explode and you will not have to escape from OCP.

By now you should be on level eight. Here you can pick up a lot of energy so shoot those targets as fast as you can for a high score and loads of energy.

THE CHEAT!

If you're having problems on levels 1, 3, 5, and 7, check out this cheat. First of all, find some baby food in a jar. Let yourself be shot, but watch the power bar, and when it reaches rock bottom and Robo's crouching over to die, jump onto the baby food. You should be teleported to the next level!

CHESSMASTER

Brian Best from North Shields sent in these codes to make Chessmaster a tad easier. Just enter them on the password screen.

This gives the black player two kings instead of one:

Trf09J60S=4dT-N
k%+%p$WzVy2

This gives the white player queens instead of pawns, and leaves the black player with just a king left:

00100000vbmpffff
WzVy

This gives the black player no king, so he can't lose:

vH00000>NhJ-S
kTktK%+%+%WzVy2

This gives both players no kings, so nobody wins!

YB00000dJ4F1T
QS+qWzvy2

SPECIAL FEATURE

Mario is by far the most popular videogame character in the World. Having appeared in a whole range of superb games, he's achieved superstar status! But where does he come from? Well, his origins have become shrouded in mystery...

But one story says that Mario is actually based on a real-life character - a short, fat Italian plumber who was the landlord of one of the Nintendo games designers when he was staying in New York! Whether or not this is true is another thing - the designer of all the original Mario games, Shigeru Miyamoto won't confirm or deny the rumour!

Since his first videogame appearance in the 1980 arcade hit Donkey Kong, Mario has gone from strength to strength, starring in a string of coin-ops and going on to appear in his own series of Nintendo carts alongside his brother Luigi, as well as making guest appearances in a variety of other games!

In fact, he's become so popular that there are now Mario TV cartoons, an entire Mario TV show and, coming soon, a Mario movie written by Barry Morrow (who scripted Rain Man) and starring Danny DeVito as the man himself! Where will it end?

DONKEY KONG: THE BEGINNING

Mario's videogame debut was way back in 1980 in a strange-sounding coin-op called Donkey Kong. In it the intrepid hero in red dungarees has to rescue a girl who has been kidnapped and whisked to the top of an unfinished skyscraper by a giant King Kong-sized gorilla. There are four screens of platform action, and the idea is to clamber up to the top of each screen within the time limit by avoiding the many hazards! Although it's a simple game by today's standards, twelve years ago it took the arcade world by storm!

MARIO TURNS BAD

A year later a sequel was spawned. Donkey Kong Jr. was the name of the game and this time Mario played the bad guy (the one and only time he has ever been cast as a baddie). The hero is Donkey Kong Jr., a baby King Kong clambering through four levels of platform action and rescue his dad, Donkey Kong, who has been caged by evil Mario! It was another great game, and another runaway success.

SHOOT THAT MONKEY ASS

Donkey Kong III followed next. It's another four-stage game, this time featuring rather limited shooting-style action in which Mario blasts bees, wasps and Kong himself (in the backside!) in an attempt to drive him off the top of the screen. It was treated as a bit of a novelty, but didn't have the addictive action of the previous two games.

THE HISTORY OF # MARIO

THE LAST AND FINAL DONKEY

Finally, in 1984 came Donkey Kong IV, a return to the traditional platform and ladders action of the original with Mario scrambling up ramps to defeat Kong. During its testing period it wasn't deemed sophisticated enough to wow punters, and the machine never made mass circulation. But was that the end of Mario? No - that was only the beginning...

HAND-HELD MARIO

During the early 1980's, before Nintendo invented the NES, they produced a series of hand-held LCD machines called Game 'n' Watch. And what better to appear in the best ones but their most famous coin-op star, Mario. Some of these very limited games are still available today - Donkey Kong, Super Mario Bros.,

MARIO BROS INC

Mario bounced back from his Donkey Kong IV failure (long-lost brother Luigi in tow) in a coin-op called Mario Bros. It's a one or two-player game in which the brothers patrol a series of platform screens and attempt to clear it of baddies which include turtles, flies, crabs and snowmen, which emerge from pipes. First of all the baddies are punched by jumping up at them from a platform below. A successful hit stuns them, and they are then destroyed by jumping up to their level and kicking them over. It might sound a bit dull, but it's a truly excellent game, especially in two-player mode where there's potential for some amazing battles!

SPECIAL FEATURE

MARIO GETS SUPER

In 1985 Mario starred in his biggest and most successful game yet - Super Mario Bros. The scrolling platform game concept was pushed to its limits as Mario battled through eight huge levels, each split into four sub-levels on the way to rescue Princess Toadstool and her friend Mushroom from the clutches of the evil Koopa and his clan. The game was a revelation. Packed with hidden features, superb graphics, one of the catchiest soundtracks of all time and sporting superlative gameplay, Japanese players went Mario bonkers! Over 20,000,000 cartridges were sold and Mario became an instant superstar. Exactly the same thing happened in America when the game and the NES machine was released in 1987 - another 23,000,000 copies of the game were sold and Mario became a household name!

THE SEQUEL

With Mario fever sweeping the world, Super Mario Bros II was released in 1987 and again sold millions. Featuring four different characters, Mario, Luigi, Princess Toadstool and Mushroom, the player once more had to battle against the evil Koopa and his army of evil meanies! The gameplay is very similar to the original Super Mario, but has new twists and tweaks, such as being able to pick up and throw objects and baddies! But the best bit in the entire game is the fantastic end-game sequence - one of the finest yet seen in any videogame!

DOCTORIN' THE MARIO

In 1990 Mario starred in his most unusual game yet. Released on both NES and Gameboy, Dr Mario surprised the world. It isn't a scrolling platform game. Far from it - it's a puzzle game that plays like a kind of cross between Tetris and Columns. And it's just as addictive too (the NES version scored 88% and the Gameboy version scored 87% when they were reviewed in issue 5).

THREE TIMES LUCKY

The third in the Super Mario series is out at the end of this month, and it's the best NES game yet! Special hardware chips are incorporated into the game cartridge to give more memory, extra colours and better sound than a normal Nintendo game! And, as you can see from the review over the page, the end result is a stunner, with more levels, more baddies and more secret items than ever before! But where does Mario go from here? Well...

SUPER MARIO FOUR OF COURSE!

As owners of Super Famicoms will tell you, the first game to appear on that machine was Super Mario 4, and it's utterly amazing! Incorporating a huge 96 levels (nearly half of them secret), and sporting fab graphics and sound, it's tough, challenging and mega-addictive. If you want to play Mario 4 you have to buy a specially imported Super Famicom - however, if you're prepared to wait, it's reckoned that the machine will be officially available in September next year.

MINI MARIO

Mario's next appearance was in 1989 in one of the first games to appear on the newly-released Gameboy. Spread over 12 levels, Super Mario Land is similar in concept to the original Super Mario game, but has new twists in the form of mini-shoot 'em up sections. It was another instant hit and has sold over 5,000,000 copies worldwide!

STRANGE MARIO FACT

If you're thinking that Donkey Kong is a bit of a weird name for a game starring a giant ape, you're right. The game should have been called Monkey Kong, but a mis-type on a fax from Nintendo Japan to American coin-op distributors resulted in the US companies making artwork and adverts for a game called Donkey Kong! Rather than re-do all the artwork and running a load of new adverts, Nintendo simply changed the title screen of the game!

MARIO THE GUEST STAR

As well as appearing in a whole load of his own games, Mario has guest starred in many more. Check out Nintendo Tennis and you'll see Mario sitting in the umpire's chair. Who swings the clubs in NES and Gameboy Golf? Why, Mario of course. He's also the referee in Mike Tyson's Super Punch Out!! and stars alongside Luigi in the brilliant Wrecking Crew. He also makes cameo appearances in Pinball, Alleyway and Tetris. Can you find him anywhere else?

MARIO TRIVIA

Over 38,000,000 Mario games have been sold in the US alone:

Super Mario Bros: 23,000,000
Super Mario Bros II: 4,000,000
Super Mario III: 7,700,000
Super Mario Land: 1,900,000
Dr Mario: 1,800,000

MARIO PRODUCTS

There are over 300 different Mario products available in the USA, ranging from drinking glasses and writing paper to sleeping bags and bicycles! Here's a little selection from the Nintendo catalogue...

That Brooklyn plumber is back, and once again he's brought his brother! Mario, the world's greatest video game hero, has returned to the Mushroom Lands, only to discover that Bowser's ruthless Koopa Children have taken over, oppressing the inhabitants into supporting his reign of terror.

Being the all-round good guy and complete hero that he is, Mario (and in two-player mode, his bro' Luigi) decide to set out on a quest to give each of the Koopa kids a good kicking, thus saving Mushroom World from a fate worse than travelling on British Rail on a regular basis.

Each Mushroom World is guarded by an evil Koopa child, and it's Mario's job to complete each level of the world until he reaches the Koopa Castle. In the castle, Mario is pitted against the Koopa Kid, and once he's defeated the evil little blighter, it's time to visit the next world packed with all manner of even more terrifying hazards!

The object is to reach the end of world eight where Bowser lies in wait, ready for the one-on-one final battle with Mario himself!

▲ Mario needs a run-up to successfully take-off.

MARIO BROS BUILT IN!

A single-screen version of the classic Mario Bros game is available in Super Mario 3. We won't give away exactly how to do it, but suffice to say, you have be in two-player mode to get there. There's also rumours of Wrecking Crew being another bonus game. The first MEAN MACHINES reader to find it and write in telling us how to do it will get a special prize!

SUPER MARIO BROS. 3

▲ The Mushroom King meets Mario.

▲ Cool and sort of lean: Mario!

A MARIO FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Some items have a strange effect on Mario. Pick one up and he gains one of five special powers! Here's the list:

RACCOON MARIO: Collection of a leaf turns Mario into this raccoon-like creature who is able to fly, thus avoiding many ground-based hazards!

Flip over any two cards and see if they match. You can only miss twice!

▲ Raccoon Mario enters a Fairy House, and confronts a fairy.

▲ Mario's in Iceland!

FIERY MARIO: Mario is endowed with fireballs that singe all foes into oblivion - a pretty decent offensive weapon.

TANOOKI MARIO: Don the fuzzy brown suit and Mario instantly becomes Tanooki Mario - a being with all Raccoon-related powers and the ability to turn into a statue!

FROG MARIO: With the aid of the frog suit, Mario is able to leap and swim like a frog - essential for the aquatic levels.

HAMMER MARIO: Collect the Hammer Suit and Mario can throw hammers of his own. The suit also has fire-resisting qualities.

COMMENT

Super Mario III is simply the finest videogame I've ever played. It mightn't have graphics and sound anywhere near as good as many Megadrive and Super Famicom titles, but what it does have is utterly fabulous playability. Its perfectly graded difficulty level, massive depth, constant surprises, hard-to-find secrets, mega-rewarding gameplay and supreme challenge combine together to make it horribly, horribly addictive. I mean real Government Health warning stuff! Once you start playing you want to keep going, just to see what surprises are around the next corner! I ended up playing it all night! And when I wasn't playing the game, I was thinking about it! It's truly awesome stuff - the greatest game yet seen! And if you haven't got a Nintendo to play it on, you'd better start saving now...

BONUS FUN, LAFFS AND JAPES

Should Mario meet up with one of the friendly Mushroom people, they give him a useful item. However, being the cunning sort of people that they are, they like nothing better than forcing Mario into taking part in a bizarre sub-game where he has to earn the object!

In this sub-game, Mario turns over two cards and hope to get a pair. This earns him the object. The tables aren't random. There are only eight, so you could actually "map" them, or wait for a future MEAN MACHINES tips section where we'll be revealing the lot!

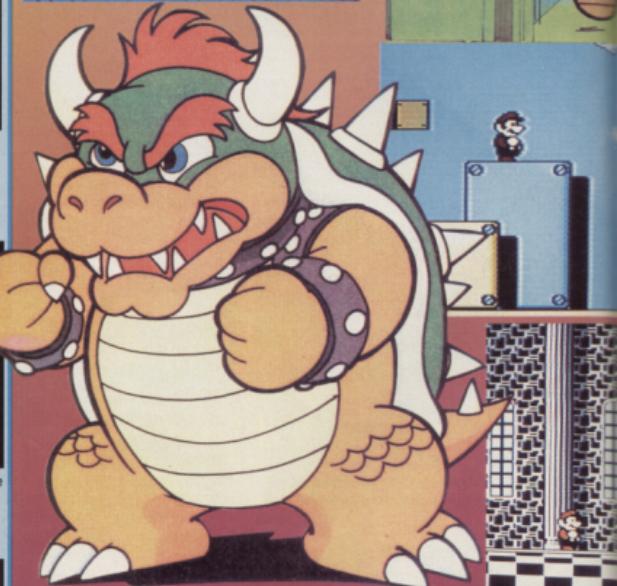

Three chests stand in front of Mario. Which should he choose? You could get a great object for your troubles, or you might choose a completely pathetic item that's completely hopeless! The choice, as they say on Blind Date, is yours...

Line up the three sections exactly to earn many bonus points and lives. There's definitely a knack to this, and once you've learnt it, you rake in those bonus lives like there's no tomorrow!

TRAVELLING KOOPAS

Some of the Koopa Kids are dotted around the map and travel about, causing some aggro. Mario can rendezvous with these critters and beat them about a bit, thus gaining another useful item!

The map screen is where Mario chooses which level to visit next. You can go wherever you want, although your choice is limited because some levels are blocked off and items from certain levels have to be collected in order to move the hazard. For example, if there's a pile of rocks blocking your way, use the hammer to knock the obstacle away! Items are selected with the A button, and these can help you in your selected level.

▲ A frog-suited Mario gets ready to dive in.

Within the game there are plenty of mini-quests that Mario undertakes in order to gain useful items. The first is at the end of world one. The king has been turned into a dog by a Koopa minion, and the evil one has only just escaped. Mario manages to board the fleeing minion's ship and sets about locating the boss. His magic wand is the only object capable of making the king human again!

COMMENT

Finally! Mario II's been propelling up the Nintendo charts for many months, and now Mario III's out I confidently expect it sell by the jumbo-jetful - and it deserves to! Mario is a truly brilliant game, combining a massive amount of depth with totally superb playability. Featuring many devious platform traps and puzzles that rely both on brains and reflexes, Mario is simply a truly classic game. The graphics, though quite simple, are incredibly varied and there are hundreds of excellent enemy sprites, each with their own behaviour pattern. The sound is superb too, with a special sound chip built into the cart to provide some excellent bongo drum samples! Having completed Mario IV, I expected this to be a doddle - not a bit of it! In some aspects it's even better than the Super Famicom game, and in the playability department it makes Sega's Sonic look poor by comparison. In my view, Mario III is THE game for the Nintendo and is worth every last penny!

Take to the roads of America and enter the most arduous racing event for top-of-the-range sports cars! Yes indeed! With only your turbo-charged Ferrari Testarossa (top speed: 188 mph) and a whingeing (but still pretty well-proportioned) female for company, it's your job to traverse five stages of racing action, dodging other racers and normal traffic in pursuit of the next checkpoint.

In order to confuse the police, the Outrun organisers have erected not one, but five finishing lines, and it's down to you to consider which route provides the least number of pitfalls.

At the top of the screen, you'll notice a timer ticking down. This time won't last you until the end of the race unless you reach the end of the current stage (signified by a checkpoint) and cross the line. Extra time is then doled out, but watch out, because each progressive level endows you with less and less time to complete the next stage!

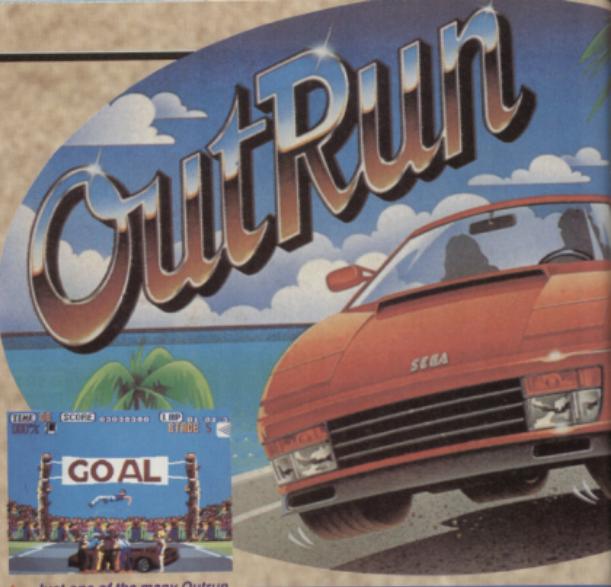

Complete the game and glory is yours for ever and ever. Fail, and you can expect a good ticking off from your girlfriend - or maybe worse...

COMMENT

RICH Make no bones about it, Super Monaco GP still rules okay as far as Megadrive driving games go. Outrun may have been more entertaining as a coin-op, but this conversion is marred by the fact that it's a doddle to complete. In EASY mode it took around ten minutes' play to finish it and NORMAL mode proved to be no more difficult at all. Only with the higher skill levels did Outrun present any kind of challenge whatsoever, and I'll warrant that that won't last long either. I can't really be bothered to find out either, because Outrun is so dreadfully tedious to play. The handling of the Testarossa is very dodgy indeed. Touch the side objects at a relatively tiny velocity and you're spun over violently as if you've hit it at a hundred times that speed. I honestly find it sheer lunacy to recommend this game when some shops are selling it for over forty quid. Fans of the coin-op may enjoy this, but I reckon that most sane, sentient life forms should go for the superior Super Monaco GP or Electronic Arts' smart Road Rash for the best Megadrive road race games.

▲ Just one of the many Outrun endings.

▲ Burning rubber!

STRUT YOUR FUNKY THANG!

At the beginning of the game, you choose which piece of funky muzak you wish to accompany your high speed antics. In the selection you'll find Magical Sound Shower (Gloria Estefan, eat yer heart out!), Passing Breeze (the cool man's tune), Splash Wave (pretty funky) and finally Step On Beat (a pretty boring tune that actually wasn't in the arcade original).

MEGADRIVE*REVIEW

▲ Extra time is yours once you've crossed the checkpoint.

COMMENT

Outrun might be an old arcade classic, but compared with other Megadrive versions of more up-to-date arcade coin-ops like Super Monaco GP and Super Hang-On, and even non-coin-op race games like Road Rash, it

JULIAN hasn't really got what it takes to be classed as a great race game. It's just not exciting enough - the sheer uncontrollable speed of Super Hang-On and the constant battle against other cars in Super Monaco GP made them both thrilling games to play. Outrun has neither of these factors, and when you discover that it's so easy you can finish it on your first go, it all becomes rather dull and pointless. Even on the highest difficulty setting it's still very simple to complete, and only a complete race game novice with the reactions of a crippled slug could find any real challenge. Yes, the graphics are nice, and yes, the sound is good, but sadly Outrun just isn't challenging enough or fast enough to make it anything other than average.

Thanks to Console Concepts of Stoke for supplying us with a review copy of this game. If you want more information about the game, call them on 0782 712759.

OUTRUN: COIN-OP STYLE!

Around 10,000 Outrun coin-ops were produced for the arcade market, and according to Sega, every one of them was snapped by the arcades. It's combination of hydraulic thrills 'n' spills along with gob-smacking graphics and completely groovadelic tunes! It spawned a sequel, the disappointing Turbo Outrun, which is also scheduled for Megadrive conversion.

ANYTHING ELSE IS CHILDS PLAY !

American Football is getting more and more popular these days. British fans saw a London-based team take on the world and win earlier this year when the London Monarchs beat the Barcelona Dragons in the World Bowl football tournament.

However, if you're completely new to the sport and haven't got a clue about the rules of American Football, here's a quick run-down of the action. Points are scored by taking the ball to the opponent's end of the pitch and thus scoring a touchdown. However, should the ball hit the ground before the touchline is reached, play is stopped and the offensive team regroups to try again. Their short term objective is to reach the next ten yard line, which once crossed, gives them four more chances ('downs'). If they don't make it after the four attempts, the defensive team adopt the offensive. After a touchdown, an extra point is earned by kicking the ball over the opposition's cross bar. The winning team, unsurprisingly, is the team that scores the most points after four quarters of play.

COMMENT

The obvious question is how does this compare to John Madden's Football? Well, it doesn't fare too well - but that doesn't make it a disaster area. The sounds are terrific and the graphics, although not as realistic as Madden's, are better than those used in Joe Montana's Football.

JULIAN and variety of Madden's, and this is what lets it down in the end. I know it's annoying to keep talking about Madden's, but if you want to experience the best on the Megadrive, Madden's is the one to go for.

▼ The teams gather ready to continue play. It's the third down for the offensive team. Will they gain the necessary yards this time?

PLAYING AROUND WITH FUNNY

There are a lot of defensive and offensive strategies available in this game, and choosing the right one at the right time may be instrumental to winning the game. The wrong choice on the other hand, might spell disaster and yard-losing doom. It's these strategies that dictate the positioning of the players, along with where they move once play has begun. The play you choose also determines the player you control when you switch back to the action. Defense, on the other hand, is more a case of trying to anticipate the offense team's actions and act accordingly, thus foiling their yard-gaining plans.

I'LL BE YOUR SUBSTITUTE

If you get sick of a player's complete incompetence, there is a big selection of substitutes at your disposal. Some of your players are real dweebs and fall down injured if the wind is too strong, whereas a strong substitute could help revive your team's fortunes. Fortunately, there's an option which makes all your players impervious to pain. No injuries!

TWO-PLAYER FROLICS

Just like Joe Montana and John Madden's, Mike Ditka's Power Football has a two-player mode included to maximise enjoyment of the game. Just like John Madden's, three possible plays appear on screen and players choose their strategy by using the corresponding buttons on the control pad. Since your opposing player doesn't know which button you pressed, your strategy plans remain secret!

COMMENT

Mike Ditka's Power Football has been heavily influenced by its peers. In terms of appearance it looks spookily similar to John Madden's. The graphics however, are a quite rough around the edges and the scrolling's not as sweet, or the animation as smooth as it could have been. The sound on the other hand is great, bordering on spectacular. There are a variety of thumping, rumping theme tunes to choose from and more sampled speech than you can shake a stick at, and if you don't like the music, there's an option to turn it off. So, all in all, a bit of an aural feast. Gameplay is as you would expect, the standard strategic layout a la Madden's, and there's a very comprehensive list of possible plays. Putting these into practice is a doodle and the menus are actually a little friendlier than in Madden's. Sadly however, the game has a rough, unfinished feel to it. The response from your players while actually running or passing is a little poor. The golf-like system used when kicking for extra points is unnecessarily fiddly and the overall effect is a little lacklustre. At the end of the day, why buy this when you could have John Madden's?

A pretty ropey, unpolished feel to the game, but the mass of possible plays is quite impressive.

A bizarre cross between Joe Montana and John Madden's in style, and the scrolling's pretty jerky too.

Not quite as enjoyable as John Madden's, and the scope for extended play is also limited compared to the EA game.

OVERALL 78%

A decent American Football game unfortunately eclipsed by the classic John Madden's Football.

Playing Marbles used to just involve hitting some other marbles out of a chalk circle in the playground. However, those enterprising folks at Atari took the marbles and made them battle it out in an all or nothing race set across varied isometric 3D scrolling landscapes.

The object of each race is simply to reach the GOAL! flag positioned at the end of the course. But before you can get there, it's your job to negotiate a number of cunning traps positioned by the Marble Madness authorities. Each level has its own hazards to overcome, and there are also the likes of mutant black marbles and moving acid pools trying to stop your attempts.

Controlling the marble is perhaps the stiffer challenge. The orb-like object responds realistically to the landscape and owing to the inclined surfaces, tends to roll about a bit. Later levels also boast massive ramps that your marble uses to perform nifty jumps.

Sounds like a bit of a challenge, huh? Let's put it this way - Marble Madness is the ultimate test of your ball controlling abilities!

▲ Enter the tubes in order to progress!

TWO BALLS ARE BETTER THAN ONE

To add that racy feeling, MB Games have included the arcade game's simultaneous two-player mode. The gameplay is not significantly altered, but extra points are on offer for the player who gets to the finishing line first!

COIN-OP MADNESS

Atari's Marble Madness coin-op went down a storm with arcadesters when it released in 1984. Just like this conversion, the game features simultaneous two-player action. Each player has their own track with which to control their marble. This Nintendo conversion (courtesy of Rare) features all of the coin-op's levels and sprites!

COMMENT

Marble Madness is certainly a classic game concept, and it's good to see it resurfacing on the Nintendo. The graphics and sound are both authentic to the original arcade machine, and the playability is as good as ever it was. It's the best version of the game I've ever played, knocking spots off the Amiga version in the playability department. The only slight problem is the lack of levels. Six isn't really that much, and I went through four on my first attempt. What Marble Madness does have in its favour however, is the fact that it's so enjoyable to play; even when you complete it, you still come back for more, simply because it's such a good laugh to play. Check out the game in your local shop, and no doubt Marble Madness will soon win you over.

REVIEW

▲ The marble finishes off level one and gets 1000 points!

BALL-BOOSTINGLY GOOD

The marble you control is capable of accelerating at a much faster speed simply by holding down the control pad's A button. Although controlling the marble at speed is a bit more difficult, the course can be completed with more seconds to spare! This also comes in handy for making some of the large jumps needed to complete some of the later levels successfully.

COMMENT

JULIAN I went bonkers over Marble Madness when it first came out in the arcades, and it's great to get the chance to play it again! It's a superb conversion, with all - and I mean all - of the original machine's features, graphics and sounds. The gameplay is replicated perfectly, and all the little tricks and moves that work in the coin-op work here! The only questionable aspect is its lasting appeal - it only has six levels, and it's not that difficult to complete them. However, even though I finished it, I constantly kept going back to see if I could improve my score. And the two-player mode is always a laugh! So unless you've lost all your marbles, check out Marble Madness.

Speedball

A foul demonic creature from the abyss of Hell used to get his kicks by terrorising people in their nightmares. However, this used to prove very frustrating owing to the fact that people tend to wake up just as they're about to die in their nightmare. Therefore it made sense for this creature to follow them back into the land of the living and terrorise them there.

The people of the world are obviously more than a bit upset when this creature arrives and starts killing everyone in sight. Since every human is vulnerable to this creature's mental powers, a robot warrior is created in order to kick the demon's ass back to the smelly land from whence it came.

This robot is Turrican, the perfect killing machine. However, before he can do away with the evil creature, he has to travel massive eight-way scrolling levels, scaling the platform scenery and blasting away at the evil beings and end-of-level bosses that the creature has created during his brief stay in our world.

The only problem is, Turrican hasn't got a brain, and it's down to you to control him in a fight to the death with the ultimate menace!

▲ Turrican indulges in the five knuckle shuffle, with the aid of his pump action tool.

COMMENT

I was expecting this to be a beefed-up version of the Amiga original, but it's not. Instead it's identical to the computer version - and that's where its problems lie. Eighteen months ago, Turrican looked a pretty swish computer game. But eighteen months ago it wasn't competing against Megadrive platform games like ESWAT, Spider-Man and Sonic the Hedgehog. The gameplay is quite fun, but it's not evenly balanced; once you've got over the difficult first stage, it's becomes very easy and you can go miles - competent platform game players should be able to finish the game within a few sessions. The graphics and sound aren't particularly hot, either. With some gameplay tweaks and graphical improvements, Turrican could have been great. As it stands, it's just average.

JULIAN

The graphics and sound aren't particularly hot, either. With some gameplay tweaks and graphical improvements, Turrican could have been great. As it stands, it's just average.

TURRICAN

Turrican's weapon can be switched between three different types of fire simply by picking up the appropriate icon.

SPREAD: Blasts in three, and then five directions. Not bad really, especially when it comes to blasting hard to reach areas.

BEAM: A single high-intensity laser that cuts through aliens like a hot knife through butter (after a couple of power-ups).

TURRICAN SHOOTS UP

Later on in the game, Turrican leaves the usual platform-based levels for an action-packed section set in a vertically scrolling tunnel. Here, Turrican's equipped with a jetpack and the objective is just to reach the top of the tunnel. This is made quite difficult however, because there's the ubiquitous load of nasty enemy sprouts out to get our robotic hero!

LASER WALL: A smart weapon that spreads out from Turrican destroying everything in its path. However, it can't go through walls.

GYROSCOPE: Turrican has three opportunities per life to turn into a gyroscope, which doesn't sound very helpful at all. However, this gyroscope is totally invulnerable to all attack!

TURRICAN'S BULGING TROUSERS

Turrican's trousers are packed with highly explosive stuff. Here's a quick run-down of the sort of things we're talking about.

CANNON: A very powerful weapon guaranteed to knock the faeces out of any end-of-level boss.

THE ORIGINAL TURRICAN

Turrican was originally an Amiga game published by a company called Rainbow Arts, and coded by Factor 5 - a bunch of German programmers. The game is exactly the same as the version reviewed here, even though different programmers (The Code Monkeys) undertook the Megadrive conversion. A sequel also surfaced from the same company - the imaginatively titled Turrican 2. Both games were warmly received by the press, even though they were incredibly simple to complete to anyone with fairly decent shoot 'em up skills.

MINES: Guaranteed to make things go with a bang, these things annihilate all ground-based targets on-screen.

YES SIR, ICON BOOGIEY

Blasting invisible blocks and certain aliens provides Turrican with collectible icons. The most popular icons are the ones that boost Turrican's ammo, whilst others endow him with extra energy. 1-UPS are also available - guess what they do!

enjoyable, there's plenty of far more exciting platform games on the Megadrive (Spider-Man, Strider or Sonic for starters). The hefty forty quid price tag makes this Amiga conversion five quid more expensive than Sonic! The difficulty level is also very strange. The first sub-level is very difficult, and yet on the next level there's around ten bonus lives to be found - thus making the game far easier! Amiga owners might have lapped up Turrican, but it's pretty standard fare on the Megadrive.

Those Double Dragon boys are back for their second Gameboy adventure. After heroically defeating the Black Gang in the first Double Dragon caper, they decided to hone their martial arts skills by training with the Scorpion gym. They soon become teachers, and the boss, Gordon, takes to the lads instantly...

However, one of the other teachers, a twisted creature called Anderson is jealous of the Dragons' sudden popularity and butchers Gordon's prize pupil - making it seem like the Dragon boys did it. Gordon is a tad annoyed and orders the heroes' immediate execution!

Using a rather bizarre form of logic, the Double Dragons realise that the only way to clear their name is to find Anderson and beat him into confessing his dark secrets. However, the boys have to face up to both the irate Scorpions AND Anderson's personal body guards!

DRAGON ATTACK

A large repertoire of moves are available to the Double Dragon lads, including punches, kicks, head butts and a very strange special move. This move involves crouching down, and leaping up into the air, fist outstretched. Should any enemy sprite get in the way of this, it's curtains!

COMMENT

Although the graphics and sound are much improved over the original, this is essentially more of the same, with gameplay that's very similar to the predecessor! JULIAN Still, if you're not yet bored of the Double Dragon theme and are after a solid beat 'em up - this is the one to get.

COMMENT

I bought the original Double Dragon, and although the graphics and sound are far superior, the gameplay itself isn't really that much different. But it's still the best beat 'em up on the Gameboy and will doubtless go down a storm with Double Dragon fans.

Those evil Xenites are back, and this time they're twice as deadly! After having their baboon asses well and truly dusted in Xenon I (which never appeared on the consoles in any form at all), they retreated and regrouped, coming up with an even more dastardly plan for universal domination!

And what a plan it is! Their new blueprint for cosmic domination involves striking at the heart of the Earth Empire by blowing up massive bombs throughout the planet's past history, thus making it an easy target in the future. To give their dangerous scheme an even bigger chance of success, they've also deposited massive laser-spewing forces to guard the bombs, along with gargantuan end-of-level bosses!

As you may have gathered, behind the scenario lies a vertically scrolling shoot 'em up, boasting three levels of explosive blasting mayhem all backed by a Master System version of Megablast - the ball-bouncingly brill Bomb The Bass theme tune!

BOMB THE BASS: THE FACTS

Xenon II features a Master System rendition of Bomb The Bass' Megablast tune, as taken from their Assault on Precinct 13 album (and the Megablast tune itself is derived from the theme tune of the movie of the same name). Considering the Master System's limited sound chip, this ker-azy remix isn't that bad. Bomb The Bass have a new album on the shelves now called Unknown Territory that features their recent single Winter in July. Bomb The Bass are also one of the first bands to make use of the Roland surround-sound system - a method of creating '3D sound' using ordinary stereo speakers!

COMMENT

As you must have already seen for yourself by looking at the screenshots on this page, Xenon II is one of the finest-looking Master System games yet released. Its gorgeous, beautifully coloured graphics make it look just like a 16-bit game - the backgrounds and sprites are all utterly stunning! And the game's not just a visual knockout, either. It's addictive and enjoyable to play, with three long and challenging levels to keep blasting fans happy. I don't think it'll take particularly long for shoot 'em up experts to finish the game, but it's of such high quality that you just want to keep on going back to have another blast. The Master System game range, although huge, isn't exactly bulging at the seams with really high quality shoot 'em ups, so if you're a blasting fan make sure that you don't miss this.

OK WHAT DO YOU WANT TO BUY ?

The bog-standard weapon for the Xenon craft. Power-ups provide a faster firing weapon, which can also release more powerful shots. This weapon is also available in side and rear-firing forms.

SHOP-RELATED MALARKEY

At the end of each level, after the boss has been defeated, the Xenon craft docks with the Intergalactic Shopperama where weapons are bought and sold. However, the shopkeeper is a bit of a sly - offering about half the original asking price for second hand gear!

REVIEW

MODULE WEAPONS

Up to four modules can be bolted-on to the ship, and these can be any combination of lasers or cannons - all depends on how you choose to spend your cash!

PROJECTILES

CANNON

Exclusively available from the Intergalactic Shopperama, this cannon locks on to the front of the fighter in place of the projectile weapon, although you can buy extra side-mounted cannons as well! Cannons can be powered-up to shoot off a far more powerful projectile.

LASER

Another weapon that you pick up first at the Shopperama, this laser cuts through all foes in its path, although it's slower than the cannon. Like the cannon, its annihilation potential is greatly increased through the use of power-ups.

REVIEW

THE
CHALLENGE

COMMENT

I know that vertically scrolling shoot 'em ups are something of a rarity on the Master System, and while Xenon II holds lots of promise, it's a tad lacking in the excitement department, simply because of the game's pace. Even with no bolt-on weapons attached and hardly any enemy sprites on-screen, the action is just a tad too slow for my liking. This isn't to say that Xenon II is a bad game, because it's still quite addictive and there's a strong urge to see the next level and all the weapons. In fact, the sheer variety of weapons increases the lastability of the game. Once you've completed it, you'll want to do it again with different armaments! That should take a while though, because this is a very challenging game - it took me a fair few goes just to crack the first level! The other thing on Xenon II's side is that it is probably the best-looking and sounding Master System shooter, (though a few more sound effects in the MUSIC OFF mode would have been welcome). There's no doubt that all you starved Sega blast fans will love it, so what are you waiting for? Get down to your software store and give it a whirl!

Fancy yourself as a bit of a Becker? Or perhaps the top-ranked super skills of Steffi Graf are more your style. This latest Super Famicom cart enables couch potato armchair athletes to participate in the sport where grunting loudly in a very upsetting manner is every bit as important as winning the points.

Super Tennis provides you with every manner of tennis court known to man, along with cute players, ball boys and umpires, along with computerised opposition (if you're playing in one-player mode). Also included are digital representations of the top players in the tennis world, so look out for the likes of Obekka, Lendou and Gurafe (no prizes for guessing the names of their real life counterparts). Plenty of lesser players are also included, some of whom only appear in the Grand Slam tournaments.

With the aid of an excellent control method, just about every kind of shot is possible in Super Tennis. It's down to you to master it!

COMMENT

JULIAN With its intuitive controls, fast action and utterly realistic gameplay, Super Tennis is the finest simulation of the sport ever produced. It's got great graphics and sound (the caricatures are brilliant - my fave's Wagassi), but it's the sheer pace and playability that makes this a classic sports game. It's horribly addictive in one-player mode, and for two-player thrills and spills it ranks alongside Kick Off 2, John Madden's and Ice Hockey as one of the best. It caused the entire office to grind to a standstill, with constant challenges being issued and grudge matches being played (even now, as I write this I can hear Rich cussing his head off with frustration because he's getting his monkey ass busted by Gary). I don't think I need to tell you this, but I will anyway - if you're a Super Famicom owner, get it.

SHOOTING BALLS

Each of the control pad's four buttons produces a different shot in Super Tennis. Choose a shot in conjunction with the directional pad and you alter the ball's trajectory. Included in the shot line-up are the likes of lobs, slicing sun shots, straightforward returns and top-spin shots.

Pressing SELECT before one of the players serves gives you the in-game stats, which provides you with a detailed breakdown of each player, Wimbledon-style. Also present are some more interesting figures like how many aces you've served in the game. This screen also appears at the end of each set.

FOUR PLAYER ACTION

One of the many options in Super Tennis is the doubles mode, which puts four players on the court ready to battle it out. The rules remain much the same, except that the whole court can be used in play, including the two strips on either side of the court.

スマートテニスの新しい風が吹く

THE WORLD CIRCUIT

Selecting the World Circuit option at the beginning of the game enables you to compete in just about every major tennis championship in the world, including the US Open and everyone's favourite, Wimbledon. Play is much the same as in the straight one-player mode, except that a wider variety of courts are used. There aren't any doubles matches either to clutter things up.

RICH

Super Tennis looks and plays very much like Final Match Tennis on the PC Engine, which is no bad thing as that was the best tennis game ever, I say "was" because Super Tennis is vastly superior in a number of aspects. First of all, the Famicom's 3D chip was used to good effect to give a brilliant tennis court that features stunning scrolling. Add in the myriad of extra options and you've got the greatest tennis sim ever. The vast amount of players to choose from is also a welcome addition and the two-player option also adds an extra special ingredient. Serving an ace to the outrage of your "pal" has a particularly satisfactory feeling, especially if it's Gary Harrod you're playing (hah). The icing on the cake is the exclamations the players make. After winning an arduous rally, players scream "yeah!", but if they muck it up they say something a bit ruder... Super Tennis is yet another essential buy for the Super Famicom, and ranks highly in a league featuring all the classics, including John Madden Football, Kick Off and EA Ice Hockey.

CAESAR'S PALACE

Here's the opportunity to have Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas in the palm of your hand, and you don't have to throw away massive amounts of money to quell that gambling hunger! This Gameboy cartridge is officially licensed from the best gambling den in the world and features many of the games played inside its hallowed walls, albeit in a digital form.

The aim of the game is simply to make money by participating in numerous gambling-related games. These range from one-armed bandits (there's lots of different sorts, so you can place a stake up to $100 in some, whilst the lower stake machines will only sting you to the tune of $1!), roulette wheels and card games.

You start the game with $1000, but you need to leave Caesar's Palace with $1,000,000 in order to break the bank and finish the game!

GAMBLE SERIOUSLY OR PIDDLE ABOUT

Choosing all of the different games is made possible by running your pointer around the plan view of Caesar's Palace and clicking on the game you wish to visit. Click on the toilet, and you're given a view of the toilet door, and button A is used to "do the business", as it were.

COMMENT

Computer gambling games are usually incredibly pointless, simply because your winnings aren't transferred into real money! However, Caesar's Palace is so well presented and the games are so frustratingly addictive, you'll be at it for ages, and it's certainly a lot more refreshing than the bog standard platform games we tend to get on the Gameboy.

COMMENT

I first played this on a plane journey to Chicago, and got so engrossed the hours simply whizzed by! The blackjack game is superb on its own - but there are a whole load of fruit machines, poker machines, a wheel of fortune AND roulette tables too! Caesar's Palace is an unusual, unbelievably addictive game - if you think gambling games are a waste of time, try this out and see just how wrong you are.

THUNDER

Those Thunderforce lads are back, and this time they're taking no crap - especially from the massive Orn Empire task force that's taken over a whole sector of Earth Space. Since their last dangerous adventure on the Megadrive, they've upgraded their ships to carry even more weapons and thus give those Orn scum even more opportunity to have their bottoms soundly thrashed out of this dimension.

Unlike Thunderforce II, which was, for the most part, viewed from above and scrolled in eight directions, Thunderforce III is a more traditional R-Type style horizontally scrolling shoot 'em up. As usual for this type of game, it features plenty of bolt-on weapons and massive end-of-level bosses!

The object is pretty simple. Just blast anything that moves, or anything that looks as if it's about to and if it isn't, blast it anyway because it might. Just be sure to guide that ship out of the path from the enemy flak, because those slimy Orn beings don't take kindly to you destroying all their plans for cosmic domination.

HAIDES

The action moves underground as the Thunderforce fighter takes on the might of the Orn Empire's underground contingent.

TARGET
GIANT LOBSTER

Claws of doom are out to crush your Thunderforce fighter courtesy of this giant lobster. Just shoot out its eye and it's history.

MEAN MACHINES

GORGON

Your eyes may be screwed up by the bizarre background fire effect, but you still have to watch out for the sudden volcanic eruptions AND the enemy craft!

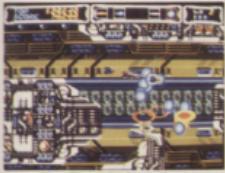

▲ Pretty serious kit, eh?

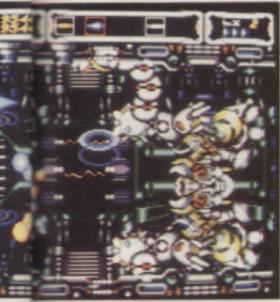

TARGET
TWIN VULCAN

The Orn Empire have certainly pulled out all the stops! This beastie is one mean muhha, but seek out and destroy the search radar to bring it down!

FORCE 3

▲ The Thunderforce has picked up a protective

ELLIS

The alien carnage moves to the ice world of Ellis, where the explosion-laden action takes place above a fast scrolling mountain range. The landscape's lethal to the touch, so watch it!

TARGET MOBILE FORT

As you can see from the picture, this is seriously heavy kit out to dust your monkey ass. Concentrate your fire on the fort's control unit to destroy it.

SHOOTING TOOLS

Thunderforce III certainly gives you the tools to get the job done, as it were. Included in the Thunderforce armoury are the likes of bog-standard pea-shooter weapons, powerful beam weapons, ground-hugging missiles and alien-busting ripple lasers. Once collected the weapon remains with your craft and can be selected at will. The Thunderforce ship carries five weapons at once. However, should you lose a ship, you stand to lose one of your weapons - probably the one selected when you bit the dust. Readers of the Tips Section will probably know of the cheat that endows your fighter with all of the weapons available!

▲ The Orn Battlecruiser is an entire level!

▲ A shielded ship on the offensive!

▲ A pretty lethal weapon, yes?

FORCE TOO

Thunderforce II was reviewed way back in issue one of MEAN MACHINES, where it received the handsome mark of 82%. It's different from this sequel in that the action is divided between overhead scrolling blasting action as seen here. If you're after a good blast it's worth a look, although you're better off going for a later game like Hellfire or Gynoug - or even Thunderforce III!

COMMENT

Although it's been available on import for over a year, Thunderforce III is still one of the most technically stunning Megadrive blasters around. From the shimmering fiery backdrops of the volcano planet to the super-smooth parallax scrolling on the ice world, it's a graphical treat. It's not just a pretty face, either.

JULIAN Thunderforce III is tough and challenging. Obviously not on the easy level - any half decent blasting fan should be able to shoot their way through to the end of the game in a few sessions - but on the more difficult levels, where the action is bonkers and you have to fight through a constant barrage of bullets and baddies! If you're after a good shoot 'em up, check this out. Along with Hellfire and Gynoug, it's one of the best blasters available on the Megadrive.

SIEREN

The underwater world of Sieren is the Thunderforce fighter's next stop. The fighter's handling is affected by the rising bubbles, so beware!

TARGET KING FISH

The Orn Empire is laying on the aqua-enemies thick and fast! Just like the Giant Lobster, the King Fish is dealt with by shooting its eye out!

HYDRA

This forest world should be your first stop. It's a relatively short level shrouded in heavy foliage that contains some hidden power-ups.

MEAN MACHINES

COMMENT

RICH

I first played Thunderforce III on import when I started at CVG, and thought it was a megablast that simply demanded purchase. Well, that was over a year ago. Since then Thunderforce has aged quite a bit and isn't quite as good as some of the shoot 'em ups that followed (Gynog and Hellfire spring to mind). There's no denying that graphical quality of the game still remains superb, and the sound is pretty good, but it's playability that counts, and though Thunderforce is good, it could have been better. People out for the best blast on the Megadrive should go for one or the other of the games I mentioned earlier, but if you can't get your hands on either, Thunderforce III is a worthwhile substitute, packing a powerful punch in the shoot 'em up stakes.

TARGET GARGOYLE

This massive gargoyle-like boss is your first target. Aim your death-bringing photons at its stomach to inflict damage and save the day.

You're a mean customer, a real hard case. You live for the speed, excitement and explosions of the fastest, most violent sport going. Galaxy 5000 is the name of the game - the ultimate successor to 20th century Grand Prix.

The action takes place on specially developed outer space tracks, orbiting high above each planet in our solar system. The racers drive the fastest form of transport known to man. These armour-clad turbocraft are designed to give the most powerful performance in the harsh conditions. They're also equipped with jump abilities, which make it possible actually leap off the surface of the track, be it to avoid ground hazards (like mines) or to make short cuts on the track simply jumping through space!

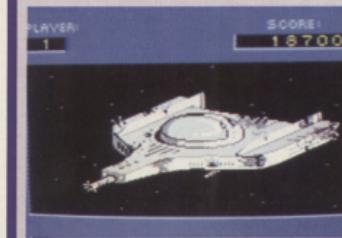

There are four sub-races to each level and the going gets progressively more difficult with each race. Extra hazards and more powerful weapons are put up against you - including the likes of massive cannons, out to blast your turbocraft into its component molecules!

So, now you know the gen. Reckon you're good enough to take on the best Galaxy 5000 has to offer?

REPAIR OR REPLACE?

At the end of the race, your winnings are added to your account and you're taken onto the spending screen. Here you can purchase a new craft, or repair the one you've got. The repair screen is quite novel in that it graphically depicts the extent of the damage, and as you spend money, the damage is gradually repaired.

GALAXY 5000

▲ On the Earth's starting grid!

COMMENT

Although it might not look much, Galaxy 5000 is simply brilliant! It starts off really easy but quickly powers-up to a deadly, no-holds-barred barge 'em out - which is just how I like my racing games! RC Pro Am was like that but whereas that got a tad boring after a while, Galaxy 5000 gives you a real sense of progress by giving you different turbocraft to fly and increasingly hazardous courses to test your accelerator on. Your opponents also race harder the further you get into the game, leaping maniacally across corners wherever they can, and forcing you to do the same to keep up! The presentation screens showing the very square-looking turbocraft aren't as impressive as they could have been, but the game graphics make up for all that. They're really fast and smooth, and they're complemented perfectly by the sampled "Scuse me!", "Watch it!" and "WAH-WAH!EEEEE!" sound effects. Activision have come up with the best Nintendo race game yet seen, and I just can't wait for their next set of releases, which includes Die Hard and Ultimate Air Combat!

HAZARDS AHOY!

Each level has progressively more dangerous hazards. Look out for laser cannons, lightning rods, bazooka bombers, black holes and plain old deadly spikes! Keep your finger poised over that jump button to successfully negotiate these potentially deadly hazards.

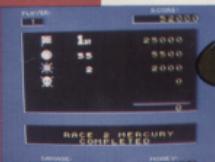

▲ There's plenty of hazards on this corner of the Earth track. Contact with any of them could spell doom!

UPGRADE YOUR SHIP

You start the game with a Tomahawk-class turbocraft, but if you earn enough money (through winning races of course), you have the opportunity to upgrade your ship. The first ship you can buy is The Crusher, a heavily armoured ship that will cost you 100,000 credits. The best ship money can buy is the deadly Stiletto. Armed with Plasma Bombs and Sidewinders it's a bit hard. Should your new ship be destroyed, you can always revert back to your original ship - so make sure you keep it in good repair!

COMMENT

RICH

Galaxy 5000 is like a sort of third person perspective version of F-Zero for the Nintendo, complete with all the thrills, spills and excitement of the Super Famicom game. The speed of the game is perhaps the most impressive aspect - hit a boost at top speed and you'll see what I mean. Attempting to out-fox the other players by devising your own cunning short cuts is another aspect that's quite appealing. Combine this robust gameplay with the prospect of simultaneous two-player excitement and you've got a great game that all race aces should snap up as soon as they see it on the shelves!

PRESENTATION 91%

Well presented throughout, with some decent presentation screen. The repair screen is particularly good.

GRAPHICS 89%

SOUND 92%

Plenty of raucous effects and vaguely appealing music.

PLAYABILITY 91%

LASTABILITY 91%

OVERALL 91%

One of the speediest and most playable console race games available!

The strangely named Flicky is a small blue bird who gets his kicks by travelling into cat-infested territory, rescuing defenceless chicks from a fate rather like lining a pussy's stomach.

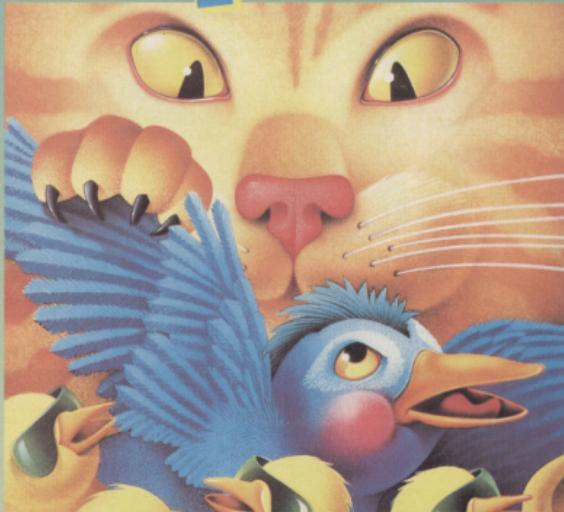

In order to save the day, Flicky travels around a constantly scrolling platform environment, collecting chicks that follow his actions. Whole chains of chicks can be collected, all of them copying Flicky's movement until the whole train becomes a bizarre kind of snake. With the chicks safely in tow, Flicky then returns to the portal, helpfully marked "Flicky", which opens and admits any chicks Flicky's collected. Only when all the chicks are safely stowed away is the level complete.

The cats themselves kill Flicky on contact, but there are plenty of objects the bird-like one collects which are then lobbed to knock them out. Should the cats make contact with any of the chicks following Flicky, the chicks are left behind, and only contact with Flicky again makes them follow him.

There are countless screens of platform-related excitement, along with many bonus levels to test Flicky's skills to their limits!

FLICKY

Okay, you don't need to tell me. Flicky looks and sounds like the worst Megadrive in existence. Its retarded graphics and moronic sound make it appear like a shambling mockery of a sad travesty. But try playing it! One game was all it took for me to become horribly, horribly hooked.

Julian went, zombie-like until I'd had into the games room I repeatedly another fix. Even now I want another go. Its gameplay is just so perfect; a constant test of reflexes as you teeter on a knife-edge between playing it safe and ending up with a rubbish score, or running the big risks and going for the mega-score! It's crazy, I know, that a game so crappy, so laughably simple and pathetic-sounding as this can prove to be more addictive, more challenging and more long-lasting than virtually any other Megadrive game, but it's true. Try it out and see what I mean!

FOLLOW THE LEADER

There's no compulsion in the game to collect all of the chicks in one go and then proceed to the portal, but it helps! The score multiplier gives you many bonus points for delivering all of the chicks in one go, and it saves time too, thus yielding yet more bonus points at the end of the level!

BONUS FR'VOLITY

In order to give the game a bit more variety, a bonus level occasionally crops up. Here, the pussy cats spring-board chicks up into the air, and it's down to Flicky to use his net to catch them. Again, massive bonus points are on offer for catching all of the chicks. Later bonus levels see the chicks being catapulted in different directions and formations, thus making the game more challenging still!

BADDIES AHOY!

During the first few levels, the only thing cropping up in the enemy sprite department are the cats. However, later levels produce a deadlier foe. Tiny green creatures travel around the platform, even hanging on to the underside of the platforms! These creatures are dealt with in much the same way as the cats. Just pick up and item and chuck it at 'em!

RICH Immediate interest and pulse-racing excitement were not generated in copious quantities when I first saw Flicky being played. However, over the next few days, many people seemed to be 'disappearing' into the game's room to sneak a quick go. Curiosity aroused, I decided to give Flicky a go, and to my incredible surprise I found myself addicted, despite the truly awful graphics (designed no doubt by some retarded nursery school graduate) and very annoying sound (cutesy tunes have never sounded so utterly nauseating!). Flicky just has a completely brilliant game concept designed to keep you hooked to the console. And though the graphics are pathetic, this means there's tons of memory spare to provide you with many different levels. Most Megadrive games these days are completed in one sitting, but Flicky's different, and provides a truly long-lasting challenge. Buy it!

NEW GAME PREVIEW

HOT CONSOLE GAMES COMING SOON...HOT CONSOLE GAMES COMING SOON...HOT

Available soon after Back to the Future II will be Back to the Future III, featuring more time-travelling larks and high-jinks as Marty McFly attempts to save Doc Brown from a ghastly death in 1885. From what we've seen it's looking dead neat, with scenes taken straight from the film, including a horse chase across a western desert as Doc tries to save his future girlfriend Clara Clayton from plunging into a creek, a pie-dish slinging section (great fun), a shooting gallery and a mad race in the DeLorean to get it up to speed so that it can be sent back to the future! So far, the game's looking great. There's also a Megadrive version on the way, and that's looking even better! We'll have more news nearer Christmas - so keep 'em peeled!

▲ It's a race to reach the DeLorean at the front of the train, but somehow, Mad Dog's men are in the way!

▲ Marty disposes of Mad Dog Tannen's cronies with pies!

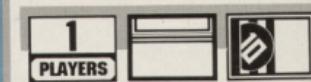

beat 'em up antics as Marty battles hoodlums in a possible alternative 1885. Then there's a slide-puzzle game in which you rearrange a picture of Marty playing in a 1985 band. And finally there's another hoverboard chase, this time in 1955 as Marty attempts to grab and destroy the sports almanac. The computer games on which this is based weren't too hot, but it's hoped that Imageworks will tweak the gameplay for the better - wait until the full review next month and you'll know whether they have or not...

▲ Use your logic skills to keep the two Jennifers apart!

MASTER SYSTEM

TOP RACER

Gremlin Graphics are currently putting the finishing touches to what must be one of the first Super Famicom games to be programmed in the UK. Top Racer, which will appear in Japan and America on the Kemco label, is a split-screen racing game in which one or two players take to the wheels of high-powered sports cars and drive like maniacs against a field of 18 other computer cars. It's certainly a brilliant game, with plenty of action and excitement. It'll be available on import when the game is released in December - look out for it!

SUPER FAMICOM

F1 EXHAUST HEAT

Julian witnessed this Super Famicom race game at the Chicago CES, but back then it was called F1 Built-To-Win. One name change later, we receive word (and pics) which reveal that it's another race game which uses the Famicom's sprite-twist hardware to create smooth scrolling road graphics, just like the fabulous F-Zero and the not-so-fabulous Hyperzone. Unlike those two, this game is set in the present day on famous racing circuits all around the world, which you get to burn around in your seven-speed formula one racing car. As well as all the carve 'em up action, there's a smidge of racing physics too, as you zip into the pit lane to adjust your tyres and suspension and buy nitros and a new engine - if you ever win any prize money. Max Press are the company responsible and hopefully F1 Exhaust Heat will be in Japanese shops in December, and in your favourite importer's shop a few hours later.

SPEEDBALL 2

After their excellent hardware game, it's not surprising that it's set for a Megadrive launch in a few months time on their new American brand Entertainment label. It's looking right-fatty, with identical graphics and action to the Amiga original. The gameplay is also exactly the same, as your team of maniac sportsmen take on other poythos in a game that's a cross between football, rugby and full contact karate. From the early version we've seen and played, it's absolutely excellent, especially in two-player mode where the action really heats up. As you'll no doubt want to know, the official UK release date is very early in the New Year, so expect a review around that time.

FATAL REWIND

The Amiga game, Killing Game Show, is soon to appear on the Megadrive with a different name - Fatal Rewind. Electronic Arts are publishing the title, and it looks pretty swish, with plenty of blasting antics as you guide a robot around 16 different platform levels in an attempt to escape before the areas fill up with deadly ooze. Fatal Rewind is scheduled for release next month and will cost £34.99.

A HUGH-GE GAMING DEBACLE

At the recent press launch of Gremlin Graphics' rather excellent split screen race game, Lotus II, the assembled collection of journos had a good laugh at the expense of Games-X man, Hugh Gollner. Part of the day involved a two-player head-to-head challenge race where the press people could play the game against one another. Our man Jazza Rignall squared up with the boy Gollner and both roared off. Within a few seconds Gollner was careering around the track and banging off obstacles in a terrible display of driving, and within 30 seconds he was out of the race. But even though his portion of the screen went blank, he carried on twitching his joystick and staring at the screen as though he was still playing. After a few minutes of this shambolic debacle, the sad fellow suddenly cottoned onto the fact that he was staring at Jazza's screen! And while our brave hero whizzed onwards to victory, Hugh stonked around in an embarrassed strop! Doh!

DO THE SEGA!

Lesly Walker, Marketing Manager International of Sega recently travelled to the Seychelles to get married. In the evening, after the ceremony, the celebrations got underway and the partygoers were all asked to join in and try to do the local dance. What was it? Could it be the lambada? The tango? The waltz? Nope - it's the Segal! If anyone has the dance steps, send them in. I'd like to see how it's done!

US GOLD KILL JOURNOS

There were more hi-jinks at another recent action-packed press launch, this time sponsored by US Gold. A humungously fun time was had by all, as teams of journos tried out jet skiing, water skiing and canoeing, before being pulled around a lake on a large inflatable sausage (oo-er) by a young sadistic lady in a very fast speedboat whose sole objective was to dump the poor saps into the drink as often as possible - and she certainly did! In fact, the sad MAP lot were thrown off their sausage so violently that Frank O'Connor of CVG ended up having an evening's worth of ventilator fun in hospital, Julian Watsham of The One had to have stitches after cutting himself on a submerged object, CVG's Paul Rand (who won the Spacca of the Day Award) pulled a muscle and Richard Leadbetter had an unfortunate collision with Jazza's knee as they both flew into the air (he ended up with a huge lump on the back of his head)! But they still enjoyed themselves!

HARROD IS MASS MURDERER

While flicking through a book on crime history recently, I noticed a picture of notorious 1960's mass murderer Charles Manson, and was verily bowled over by the fact that he bears an incredible resemblance to a certain Mr Gary Harrod. Oo-er, I think I'd better go and put the knives away...

▲ Naaaaah! My Peugeot GTI down Southend seafront on a Saturday night is quicker 'n this!

Jazza and Rich alongside staff from CVG and The One in a sad wetsuit fashion debacle.
